Transfusions Might Help.
Flying and Influenza.
Bonus for Singed Lambs?
What Did Red Moran Think?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

GREAT BRITAIN was cheered by hope that the King might recover. It was faint hope, for doctors, after operating, reported indications of continued blood infection.

IN CASES of blood stream infection, American surgeons resort to blood transfusion, with remarkable success.

The King, exhausted by long illness, the fighting strength of his blood low, might find resisting power in new blood from a strong man.

Transfusions of half a pint two or three days apart have worked wonders in cases of toxaemia. Once used only as a last resort, transfusion is now in constant use here.

THE country is indebted to President Coolidge for deep interest shown in aviation and recommendations for airplane expenditures in his message, and his part in the celebration of the Wright brothers' flying anniversary.

YESTERDAY famous fliers, with government officials of 40 nations, discussed in Washington national problems that will arise as air transportation across continents and oceans develops.

National co-operation is necessary that the air may be free to all, as the ocean is free.

IN ANOTHER Washington building experts discuss the possibility of checking influenza, alarming in various places, although fortunately not as bad as 1920. Deaths in 75 cities total 189 for the week ending December 8.

Kansas leads in the number of cases reported, 13,596, but it is believed that only one-fifth of all cases are reported.

WHAT causes influenza nobody knows. It is suggested by serious men that "interstellar dust clouds" may be responsible. Hitherto influenza waves have swept from east to west. This time the disease is traveling from west to east.

Not content with its own destruction, influenza, weakening the system, prepares it for encephalitis lethargica, a new "sleeping sickness," almost as common as infantile paralysis.

Government that pays attention to diseases of pigs and plants might well attack human influenza.

WORKERS in Wall Street will receive large cash bonuses this year, running from 10 per cent to 100 per cent of their annual wages, and totaling tens of millions. The men have worked hard and bonuses will be welcome.

SOMETHING in the way of a bonus would also be welcome by little lambs that recently have had their wool singed. Seven hundred and fifty of them, whose accounts are said to have been closed out in one brokerage house, would appreciate a bonus. "Money" dropped to 6 per cent yesterday. That is a sort of bonus.

WHAT do you suppose "Red" Moran thought about last night, listening to music in his death cell while other Sing Sing prisoners were enjoying "the annual convict frolic?"

Sixty convicts presented the play, "No, No, Nanette," with music by a jazz band.

NOT TO spoil the evening, prison authorities kindly decided to postpone "Red's" trip to the electric chair until 3 o'clock this morning.

To sit in a "pre-execution" cell while others laughed and music played, then strut and fret along the hall, through the little door, across the floor to the death chair, seems a strange ending.

WITHOUT a word of debate, the Senate yesterday increased by $250,000,000 the Treasury Department's appropriation for enforcing prohibition. Prohibition has more of a grip on the Senate than on the public.

SOME believe it would be better for the government to legalize beer and light wines, making $500,000,000 profit on sales, rather than spend $250,000,000 to put the country on a bootleg whisky basis.

But speculation is useless. Prohibition is here to stay at least as long as this generation stays.

AL LASSMAN

Al Lassman, star tackle of the New York University football team, was removed from Mercy Hospital today and started on his way back to New York in a special railroad car. He has been a patient here since he was injured in the football game with Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field, November 24.

FAMILY DEMANDS PROBE OF GIRL SLAYER'S SUICIDE

GRID STAR SECRETLY MOVED

Al Lassman, giant tackle and captain of the New York University football team, who was severely injured in a football game with Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field November 24, and had been confined in Mercy Hospital since, left here for the French Hospital in New York early this morning aboard a special car over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The injured player, suffering from a brain concussion, was taken to the Pennsylvania station in an ambulance and carried aboard the train on a stretcher. The reservation was made under an assumed name and the railroad officials were ignorant of the real identity of the passenger.

Accompanying Lassman to New York were Charles Vye, assistant coach of the Violets, here with him during his confinement, and a nurse.

MOVED SECRETLY

Strict secrecy surrounded the departure of Lassman. The doctors repeated only yesterday that it would be impossible to remove him for at least three weeks. They have held the player incommunicado. Shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, the patient was placed on a stretcher and the long journey was under way.

The hospital authorities, who have maintained a cloak of mystery about the case from the start, refused to confirm or deny the report that Lassman had left and it was not until noon, four hours after the train had departed, that one of the physicians who had been attending Lassman admitted that he was on his way back to New York.

This doctor, however, warned that the player's condition still is serious, and expressed the hope that no undue excitement would attend his arrival in New York. He asked that the time of the arrival of the train be withheld so that the party might escape a gathering of the curious at the station.

QUEEN CABLES COOLIDGE KING IS LOW

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Although King George has successfully passed through a very critical phase of his illness, the latest official word from Buckingham Palace today indicated that there was a long and difficult struggle ahead of him before the danger point was passed and he reached a convalescent stage.

The latest official word was contained in a message sent by Lord Stamfordham, the King's private secretary, on behalf of Queen Mary in reply to President Coolidge's cordial message to the King.

QUEEN'S MESSAGE

This message said:

"The Queen is most grateful to you, Mr. President, for your kind message, of which His Majesty will in due course be informed as soon as his strength permits. Though the recent operation successfully treated one phase of the King's serious illness, the consequences of the general infection will entail weeks of slow and anxious progress before convalescence can be reached."

The latest medical bulletin on the King's condition, issued this morning, was:

"The slight improvement noted last evening in the King's condition is maintained. Any progress must be slow and difficult."

The bulletin was signed by Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn.

SHUT DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY; MANY ILL

Duquesne University closed today because of the threatened epidemic of influenza.

A fourth of the students and a fourth of the faculty were absent when classes convened today, sick with "bad colds."

The deans conferred and decided to follow the example of the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology. J. F. Malloy, registrar, announced shortly afterward that all activities in all departments, except the Christmas concert, to be given by the school of music next Sunday afternoon, would be suspended until January 2, when the Christmas vacation ends. The vacation was to have begun next Wednesday.

The public schools of Verona and Pitcairn closed today. Those of Mt. Lebanon will suspend with the end of sessions today.

POSTPONE PLAYS

The plays that were to have been given by Duquesne University school of drama in the campus theater next Tuesday have been postponed until January 8.

Duquesne has an enrollment in all departments of 5,200.

H. Frank Hare, supervising principal of Pitcairn schools, ordered them closed on being informed that 262 of the 1,500 pupils and eight of the 40 teachers were ill.

Schools in the city will remain in session until they close next week

Third Mrs. Kresge Divorce File Stolen

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS.)—Possible blackmail clouds hanging over the third marriage of Sebastian S. Kresge will be thwarted if Monroe county authorities can do it.

Someone stole the court record of the charges filed by John Swaine in 1922 when he sought to divorce Clara Katherine Swaine, now the third Mrs. S. S. Kresge. Reports that the record was offered for sale in New York for $3,000 aroused the ire of District Attorney Ira A. La Bar who declared a warrant would be issued today for the thief.

MRS. MARGARET HELDMAN

2 KUHNS GUILTY IN TAX CASE

Verdicts of guilty were returned by a jury in the Federal District Court this morning against David W. Kuhn, coal administrator in the Pittsburgh district during the World War, and his brother, Attorney Harry A. Kuhn, of New York. They were tried before Judge R. M. Gibson on indictments charging them with filing fraudulent income tax returns for the year 1923. Sentence will be imposed later. The trial started Tuesday.

They were sealed verdicts, the jury having reached an agreement after deliberating from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 7 o'clock last night. The government charged David W. Kuhn with having a net income in 1923 of $173,881.36, upon which there was due the government an income tax of $47,558.76, but his return only showed a gross income of $3,319.50.

Attorney Kuhn, the government charged had a net income of $182,260, but in his return recorded it as $2,929.50. The government said it should have been $51,068.74. The importance the government attached to the prosecution was indicated by the fact that at the government side of the counsel table, with United States Attorney John D. Meyer and Assistant United States Attorney John A. McCann, were Arthur H. Diebert, of Washington, assistant general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and W. H. Boyd, of Washington, a special attorney for the Internal Revenue Bureau. The defendants were represented by Attorney E. Lowry Humes, Rufus Mariner and T. J. Prather, former judge of Crawford County.

Four-day Holiday For State Employes

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Capitol Hill employes will have a four-day vacation over the Christmas holiday, Gov. Fisher announced that all departments will be closed from Friday night, December 21, until Wednesday morning, December 26.

Why Can Not the United States Mind Its Own Business?

Would it not be wonderful if the government of the United States would only attend to the affairs of the United States and not try to regulate all the rest of the world?

Would it not be a "grand and glorious feeling" for the people of the United States if they could only know that the public officials whom they had elected were looking after the interests of this country and of the people of this country?

Our government seems to think it has a mandate to concern itself with matters in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and Australasia; while if the politicians would only study the elections they would see that the government has had a very definite mandate from the people of the United States NOT to look after the interests of foreign nations, but to concern itself with the welfare of the people of this country.

Mr. Wilson was the first one to think that he knew more than George Washington and to insist on entangling this country with foreign nations.

He was elected the first time he ran through the fortunate, or unfortunate, chance of a split in the Republican party.

But the second time he ran he received a genuine endorsement and an actual election and wholly on the assertion—which became a campaign slogan—that he had kept us out of war.

The mandate of the people of the United States, therefore, in that election was obviously to continue to keep the country free from foreign entanglements.

But Mr. Wilson disregarded the mandate of the people and the injunction of George Washington, and the practice and policy of all preceding presidents, and put the country into the great European war.

Mr. Wilson spent thousands of millions of dollars for our part in the war, he loaned thousands of millions of dollars of American money to foreign nations, and he practically GAVE AWAY thousands of millions of dollars of the American people's money, as far as our ever getting it back is concerned.

Then Mr. Wilson went abroad and brought home the League of Nations proposal and submitted it to the people of the United States, and the people buried him and his party with him in the political ash can; and there the party has been even since, because of the almost unanimous repudiation of the Democratic foreign policy by the voters of the United States.

There was certainly no mandate in that situation for the country to meddle in foreign affairs.

Later the Republican administration took up the remains of Mr. Wilson's League of Nations, refitted and

SAY NOTE NOT HER WRITING

By WALTER CHAMBERS,
Staff Correspondent.

CANTON, O., Dec. 14.—Father, brother and sister united today in demanding that Sheriff Edward Gibson thoroughly investigate the story of Wilbur C. Heldman that his wife, Margaret Horner Heldman, last night confessed to him the murder of Vernard E. Fearn, Waco coal operator, and then killed herself while she was on her way to surrender to the police.

Mrs. Heldman, a 21-year-old mother, killed herself, according to her husband's story, as the husband drove her here from their Lorain (O.) home where, he said, she had made a complete confession of the murder.

Matthew Horner, the father, who arrived from Washington, D. C., where he is employed, Joseph Horner, the brother, of Dubois, Pa., and Mrs. Roy Pierce, the sister, who lives here, all expressed firm opinions that the girl wife would not have killed herself.

Heldman was released last night by authorities who were convinced that his story of the confession and suicide was authentic.

Heldman was released by the sheriff on his own recognizance last night.

He gave the authorities a bad scare by showing up more than four hours late for his appointment with Gibson.

The sheriff reiterated his belief in the husband's story.

"The Fearn mystery is solved," Gibson said. "It—and the Heldman girl's suicide—is an open-and-shut case."

SISTER BRANDS NOTE FALSE

The sister, Mrs. Pierce, threw a bombshell into the sheriff's theory of an open-and-shut case when she declared that the "suicide note," in which the young wife confessed the crime, was not in the dead girl's handwriting.

Heldman said he found the note, written by his wife, in a waste bas-

MELLON LIKELY TO KEEP JOB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Reports that Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon will be retained in his cabinet post by President-elect Hoover gained new impetus here today.

Mellon said that if these reports are being accepted, it is without his authority, his associates and close friends asserted without qualification that Hoover has already sent word to the Pittsburgh financial genius that the post is still his—if he wants it.

Official announcement of the retention of Mellon will not be made, if it is made at all, before the President-elect returns from his South America tour.

Today's report had it that Hoover on the train ride to his Palo Alto home before the November election, indicated clearly that, if elected, he would make no change in the Treasury post.

PROBERS LIST 40 'SURE' CASES

Between 40 and 50 indictments will be recommended in a presentment to be made to Presiding Judge James B. Drew in Criminal Court late today by the graft-probing county grand jury.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner let it be known this morning, after completing the preliminary draft of the presentment, that the number had dwindled after a decision had been reached to recommend no indictments excepting in cases where the evidence seemed to be so strong that conviction would be almost certain.

SIFT TESTIMONY

The grand jury reconvened this morning after having been recessed since Monday. Since that time District Attorney Gardner and Assistants George F. P. Langfitt and V. D. Edwards, with a corps of TRAFFIC HALTS AS FOG SWOOPS OVER PHILA.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A fog so dense that the lights of automobiles could not pierce it for more than a few feet and so capricious that it lifted momentarily only to swoop down again with ghostly opacity, enveloped parts of this city last night.

A peculiar phase of the atmospheric condition was the local nature of the swirling cloud. While trolley cars and automobiles were feeling their way along in Fairmount Park and in the central city, there was scarcely more than a mist on the Delaware River or along the Schuylkill River south of Spring Garden street.

For a time automobile traffic in Fairmount Park was halted by police to avoid possible accidents. In the central part of the city street lights were barely visible from one side of the street to the other.

ket in their home, and that it had resulted in a complete confession on her part.

Heldman was to be questioned further today as was Mrs. Fearn, widow of the slain coal man.

Mrs. Fearn has steadfastly denied she had any clue to the identity of the girl who called her to the door of her home December 6, asked for her husband and then shot him six times with an automatic pistol.

WIDOW KNEW MRS. HELDMAN

Upon being told that Mrs. Heldman had confessed to the crime, however, Sheriff Gibson said, Mrs. Fearn cried:

"Margaret! My God! Margaret Heldman!"

It then developed, the sheriff said, that rMs. Heldman not only had been to several dances with the Fearns, but that she and her husband had been entertained frequently at the Fearn home four miles from Canton.

Mrs. Heldman, according to her husband's story to the sheriff, killed herself while he was driving her here from their Lorain home to surrender her to police after she had confessed the crime.

At the home of Mrs. Roy Pierce, sister of the dead woman, are a grief-stricken father and a brother whose rage against Heldman grows hourly.

The brother insists Heldman "isn't telling all he knows." He demanded an investigation of Heldman's story of the suicide.

"Why did Heldman bring my sister to Canton to turn her over to authorities?" the brother, Joseph Horner, of Dubois, asked Sheriff Gibson. "That's a 160-mile drive he made.

"Why didn't he turn her over to Lorain police?"

It was in their Lorain home, Heldman said, that his wife yesterday confessed she had killed Fearn because he had attacked her, then threatened to expose her and made her life "a hell on earth."

The father, Matthew Horner, a carpenter, who arrived from Washington, D. C., said:

"I hope authorities will thoroughly investigate the whole story. My daughter's life with her husband was very unhappy."

Mrs. Heldman was the mother of a baby boy born last July.

Despite her dying statement of Fearn's attack and threats Heldman said he was certain the child is his son.

The husband dashed into the Stark County Jail last night, shouting to Sheriff Gibson:

"My wife's killed herself. Hurry!"

The sheriff found the woman dying in Heldman's auto with a bullet wound near her heart. The shot was from an automatic pistol of the type used in the Fearn killing.

HELDMAN'S STORY

The story told Sheriff Gibson by Heldman follows:

On the Monday preceding the Fearn murder his wife went from Lorain to Canton to visit her sister, Mrs. Pierce.

Friday morning she returned.

He accused her Saturday of killing Fearn, but she vigorously denied the charge, sticking to her story until yesterday.

He returned to his home last night for dinner and found, crumpled in the waste basket of the living room, a "suicide note" telling of his wife's decision to end her life and admitting that she had killed the Waco mine owner.

He confronted her with this note and she confessed the crime to him in detail.

He then told her to get ready to go to Canton with him.

As the car neared Canton his wife shot herself.

He drove, panic-stricken, to the sheriff's office.

From there the girl was rushed to the hospital, where she died according to Sheriff Gibson, gasping out the story of the Fearn killing.

MOTHER STUNNED

DUBOIS, Pa., Dec. 14.—Stunned by the tragedy in Canton, O., last night, Mrs. Matthew Horner, mother of Mrs. Margaret Heldman, who is reported to have confessed killing Vernard E. Fearn before she committed suicide, expressed belief in her daughter's innocence.

"I don't believe my daughter killed Fearn," Mrs. Horner said. "Her married life was terrible. It was one continual fight after another. I doubt she killed herself."

Around Dubois, Margaret Horner was regarded as a quiet girl. She resided with her mother and brother in Seventh avenue, East Side. She had been a pupil at the local high school, but quit in her senior year. In the summer of 1927 she went to Akron to visit a married sister and while there met and married Heldman.

Mrs. Horner went to visit her daughter about the time the baby was born.

The girl's father is a carpenter in Washington, D. C.

Immediately upon receipt of a telegram last night the girl's brother, John, and Chief of Police Russell Love left for Canton to investigate.

Canton Girl Slayer's Note Tells of Her 'Hell on Earth'

CANTON, O., Dec. 14.—A "suicide note," crumpled in a waste basket where it was found by her husband, led to the confession and suicide of Mrs. Margaret Heldman, 21-year-old killer of Vernard Fearn, Waco mine owner.

It read:

"I am leaving your life forever and I am truly sorry for all the trouble I have caused you, and rather than try to go through the rest of my life under a lie I am taking this means to tell you the truth. I can't face you and tell you this so I am leaving this to explain the thing that you don't know, how he made my life a Hell on earth. He came to my house when we lived at Poets (name of family with whom Mr. and Mrs. Heldman formerly lived at Canton). He threatened to expose me if I didn't do as he wanted me to. That day you kicked me out because that fellow was there and you didn't know him. For I don't think you have ever met him. I can't stand the worry any longer and to be away from my baby. So I do hope you can forgive me and give our baby a good home. Love him even if you don't me for I do surely love you."

His majesty does not appear to have lost any ground since his operation, according to the general belief expressed in medical circles.

MONARCH EXHAUSTED

Although he is admittedly in a weakened condition, his weakness in itself is not regarded as unusual in view of the fact that he has just undergone a serious and exhausting operation.

It is believed that as long as his pulse remains steady, he will continue to cope with the general taxemia and gradually recover his recuperative powers.

There is no attempt anywhere, however, to minimize or to overlook the fact that it will be weeks at best before he will have sufficiently recovered to leave his bed.

'Big Jim' M'Cormick, Chicago Figure, Dies

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—James ("Big Jim") McCormick, 44, part owner of the McCormick Hotel, died yesterday after a heart attack.

The death of "Big Jim," so-called because he was 6 feet 4 inches tall, may necessitate the dropping of charges against seven men, accused of kidnaping McCormick's partner, Thomas Gaynor. When Gaynor was held for $100,000 ransom, McCormick negotiated with the kidnapers and led them into a police trap.

Suds Hamper Fire Fighters at Soap Factory Blaze

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 14.—(A.P.)—Clouds of soap suds enveloped firemen today as they fought a blaze in the plant of Lever Brothers, soap manufacturers. Several of the firemen received injuries to their eyes, one man requiring hospital attention.

The fire started in the top story of the tower, and swept downward into an adjoining three-story building, where tons of liquid soap were let loose and formed huge clouds of suds when water was directed on the blazing tower.

The damage was estimated at $100,000.

MINE DYNAMITE PLOT FOILED

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 14.—An attempt to blow up the nonunion Virginia Hill mine, 10 miles northwest of St. Clairsville, was frustrated early today when the night watchman found a 10-gallon jar of nitro-glycerine at the mouth of the mine.

Two wires were attached to the jar and were laid in the direction of a nearby electric pump. The connection was not completed, and authorities believe the would-be dynamiters were frightened away.

The mine employs 165 men, and is owned by the Rosemary Coal Company, now of Cleveland, formerly of Pittsburgh. T. K. Maher is president.

70,000 CHEER HOOVER IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 14.—Impressed by the cordiality of the popular welcome accorded him upon his arrival here, President-elect Hoover today began the first of two busy days of official banquets, receptions and speeches after a good night's rest at the American embassy.

Ther was no perturbation among members of Mr. Hoover's "goodwill" party over reports that a plot aimed at the President-elect's life had been frustrated only two days before his arrival. Nevertheless, Mr. Hoover's temporary residence, the American embassy, is constantly under heavy guard.

The last 30 miles of the Hoover party's journey resembled a campaigning tour of a candidate for presidential election in the United States. Throngs of cheering people gathered at every crossing. A holiday atmosphere pervaded. "Vivas" filled the air.

The goodwill of the populace was evident everywhere. Seventy thousand persons jammed the Plaza outside the railway station where Mr. Hoover was received by President Irigoyen.

Police lines were broken time and again as the President-elect and the Argentine President rode to the United States embassy in an automobile. San Martin guards and members of the Argentine secret service preceded and followed the cars.

The one sour note in the entire reception was the attempt of a small group of persons to parade behind "Viva Sandino" banners. The police shunted the attempted parade to a side street without any serious trouble.

The chief event scheduled for Mr. Hoover today is a banquet at which President Irigoyen will act as host. The banquet will be held in the "White Room" of the National Palace. Mr. Hoover is expected to delivery a lengthy speech at the banquet.

Medal for East End Fire Captain Asked

Mayor Charles H. Kline today will receive a copy of a resolution asking him to award a medal to Fire Capt. Charles J. Frank, of No. 38 Engine House, in the Lincoln avenue district. The resolution was adopted last night at a meeting of the Lincoln Avenue Civic Club. Capt. Frank is said to have saved the life of a 6-year-old child last week by carrying it from a burning building. He was overcome by smoke during the rescue.

FRESH AIR BEST FOR MONOXIDE POISONING

Carbon monoxide poisoning, foe of housewives, motorists and all users of modern conveniences, may be eliminated by the simplest of all measures, the use of fresh air.

With the death list at 42 in Allegheny county from this one cause, William Yant, chemist in charge of monoxide research, and Dr. Charles J. Steim, East End physician, yesterday gave the causes, the symptoms and measures of prevention.

Gas, leaking from pipes, escaping from poorly made joints, gives off dangerous amounts of carbon monoxide fumes. Other sources are the back of trucks, auto exhausts, defective automobile heaters, certain types of stoves which do not permit complete combustion, and unvented stoves.

Dr. Steim declared the simplest preventative measure was to sleep with a window open; to ride automobiles with sufficient aid, and to watch closely for leaks.

The poisoning, Dr. Steim said, is particularly dangerous because it breaks down the blood. He described the symptoms as tightness over the forehead, headache, red skin, throbbing of the temples, nausea, sometimes hysteria, and slowing up of breathing, and then collapse. Fresh air and repose—not exercise—he prescribed as the first aid remedies.

stenographers, have been wading through the 87,000 pages of testimony taken during the last two months of grand jury sessions. Out of this they framed a 3,000-word report, or presentment. Today the grand jury went over this report, making various changes in the preliminary draft.

NO HASTE IN ACTION

As all of the 256 persons indicted in the first presentment are yet to come to trial, there will be no haste about bringing the indictments to be recommended today.

Instead of reconvening the November grand jury to do this, informations are to be made before an alderman and the indictments made by the next regular grand jury, which convenes the first Monday in February. By that time part, at least, of those already indicted, will have been called for trial.

As many of these made formal confessions to Chief County Detective George W. Murrin, following their testimony before the grand jury, it is expected there will be wholesale pleas of guilty, and that comparatively few trials will be necessary.

Mummer Murder Suspect Acquitted

EBENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—Tony Lima, 28, Johnstown produce merchant, was found not guilty of the murder of George G. Cupp, 50, also a produce merchant, last night. Cupp yas shot on the night of October 30 in front of his home by a man attired in Hallowe'en costume. Lima was charged jointly with James Siciliano, 53, huckster, with the murder. The latter has not yet been tried.

Braddock Hospital Gets Illegal Buck

John Duhon and Justice of the Peace Edward Cassidy, of North Braddock, presented a buck with an eight-point rack of horns to the Braddock General Hospital, it was said yesterday at the hospital. The men came upon the buck, which had been wounded, and after notifying Game Warden P. Gilford, were given permission to ship it to the hospital.

Collegians' Bogus "Flu Scare" Nipped

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A flu scare at the University of Oklahoma has been nipped in the bud, and the laugh is on the students, who promoted it in the hope of getting away early for the holidays.

After telephone calls had deluged the infirmary asking admittance for treatment for influenza, the university promulgated a rule requiring a physician's certificate to prove each case bona fide. The calls stopped and coughing and sneezing became appreciably less audible upon the campus.

for the Christmas holidays, Supt. William M. Davidson announced. He said reports to him indicated that from 25 to 30 per cent of the pupils enrolled were ill and that most of the illness was influenza, but he did not believe spread of the disease would be stemmed by sending pupils home.

TWO SCHOOLS AFFECTED

There are some 1,700 pupils enrolled at the Washington Junior High School and the Lincoln elementary school in the township and 20 per cent of the pupils now are absent, Miss Teressa C. Yeager, supervising principal, told the board last night.

The Verona schools were closed on advice of County Medical Director J. C. Conover, after 300 of the borough's 900 pupils had fallen ill. When the pupils able to attend appeared at the school houses this morning they found notices announcing that school had been suspended until next Wednesday and urging them to stay in their homes.

It is hard to determine just how prevalent influenza is in Pittsburgh, Dr. Philip E. Marks, superintendent of the Bureau of Infectious Diseases of the City Department of Health, said yesterday. Dr. Marks admitted that there was an epidemic of bad coughs and colds here and probably some cases of the flu.

COLLAPSES IN STORE

Nicholas Pappas, 57, of 5863 Penn avenue, collapsed in McMurray's drug store at Penn and Frankstown avenue at noon. He was taken in the police patrol to the Pittsburgh Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from influenza. Physicians said his condition was serious.

DRY WITNESS IN TOILS AGAIN

Able Berkowitz, confessed bootlegger and the federal government's star witness in its unsuccessful prosecution of the alleged North Side rum ring, has been arrested on a charge of passing a bad check.

It was learned today that Berkowitz had waived hearing for court and posted $600 bond before Justice of the Peace John Popp, Jr., of Castle Shannon. The charge was that he had issued a worthless check for $58.25 to the Sensord Rubber Company, 609 Bigelow boulevard. The complaint against Berkowitz was signed by M. Grossmes.

Two Dead, 2 Hurt on Wilkes-Barre Roads

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A hit-and-run driver and a street car claimed two lives and serious injury of two other persons here early today.

Rudolph Ackerman, 17, and Carl Asseline, 22, both of White Haven, were struck down near Tessie John's roadhouse on the Freeland-White Haven highway by an auto which did not stop.

John Nasoek, 46, of Plains, was instantly killed and another man critically injured when they were run down by a street car. The injured man is in the General Hospital.

FLU 'STRATEGY BOARD' FINDS CASES MILD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Responses from requests for information on the present influenza outbreak have been brief, bringing only the information that the cases seem milder than in the 1918 epidemic and that the symptoms are less distinctive.

The requests were made by a "board of strategy" named by Surgeon Gen. Cumming and were sent to physicians on the West coast. In addition the board, composed of three physicians of the public health service, has through the surgeon general, made public a program of precaution. This urges isolation of recognized and suspected cases, avoiding contact with crowds and treatment of cases at home rather than in hospitals.

With more than 40,000 cases reported, health officials have declared that they believe this represents only about a fifth of the actual cases.

Schools over the country continue to close because of the disease.

W. & J. CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 14.—President S. S. Baker closed Washington and Jefferson College yesterday until January eighth because of the influenza epidemic.

The situation is not considered alarming, but many cases have developed.

Dismissal of classes at this time resulted in the Greek swingout, first of the formal functions of the college year, and its attendant house parties at fraternities being canceled. Schools of the city will close today for the annual holiday vacation.

CHICAGO PLAYS SAFE

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS.)—The University of Chicago will close its doors today as a precaution for its students and faculty members against influenza. Classes will resume soon after the holidays, it was said.

Although influenza is gaining headway in Chicago, Health Commissioner Dr. Arnold Kegel has not deemed it necessary to close the schools or theaters.

The Chicago Latin School for Boys also has closed its doors.

ELGIN FIGHTS FLU

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 14.—(INS.)—Elgin Academy will close its doors today in an effort to check the spread of influenza, school authorities announced.

WISCONSIN, TOO

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 14.—(INS.)—The University of Wisconsin will dismiss classes tomorrow until after the Christmas holidays as a precaution against the spread of influenza.

MERGING OF COAL FIRMS ADVOCATED BY J. J. DAVIS

Worker Uses Jewel Cache As Roller!

SHOWDOWN DUE ON DRY FUND VOTED IN SENATE

WATSON BILL HEARINGS START

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Consolidation of present soft coal companies into not more than 100 or 200 producing concerns was put forward today as an important step towards solution of problems of the bituminous industry by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

Appearing as the first witness before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee during hearings on the Watson coal bill, Secretary Davis gave a full recital of conditions existing in the soft coal industry and urged that some definite legislative plan be adopted this session if possible.

LEWIS TO APPEAR

After hearing the Labor Department official during a brief morning session, the committee, headed by Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, recessed until this afternoon, when John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and others will appear. The present measure was offered by Senator Watson at the request of officials of the mine workers.

"As I see it," said Secretary Davis, "the only way out is to consolidate the present companies. If the number of corporations were reduced to 100 or 200 producing concerns, I believe there would be reasonable competition.

"In general, neither the operators nor the miners are getting anything out of coal, and the country gets little or nothing from them. Each mining locality has its own peculiar production problems. It is another separate problem to get the coal to market. These differences in mining and marketing give rise to difference of experience and view on the part of the operators.

UNITY POSSIBLE

"Yet," he continued, "close studies of all these differences make it clear that unity of effort and view can be achieved.

"Until they are," Davis declared, "the industry will never be free of strife. The operators will be fighting each other and fighting labor, and the country will continue to pay the cost. All the parties at issue in coal should come together with the firm determination to wipe out every difference and draw a common gain from a common aim."

Secretary Davis drew a careful picture of wasteful conditions in marketing, and declared that method of consolidation such as proposed would eliminate much of this.

Under questioning by members of the committee, Secretary Davis expressed the view that much of the soft coal problem would be solved without the necessity of federal legislation if operators and producing companies could get together in a common program.

CHARLES WEAVER SHOWS JEWEL CACHE

JEWELRY FOUND IN PIPE IN LUMBER YARD

This is part of the loot found in a pipe in the lumber yard. There were in all about 40 pieces of jewelry which today police seek to have identified by people whose homes have been robbed lately. Weaver promised police to point out homes he robbed.

SUICIDE FAILS, COURT ORDERS HUSBAND BACK

Mrs. Elinor Ashbaugh, 25, of 2902 Spring Garden avenue, who climaxed a domestic quarrel early today, police said, by quaffing a glass of poison, has her husband back and, physicians at the Presbyterian Hospital said, a chance to recover.

The husband, Fred Ashbaugh, 29, was discharged by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court and commanded to visit his wife at the hospital. Ashbaugh was arrested by North Side police on a suspicious person charge.

Police were called to the Ashbaugh home after an early morning quarrel which began in a difference of opinion over a hunting trip and ended in an attempt at suicide.

STOLEN GEMS POUR FROM OLD PIPE

City detectives, inspired by their treasure hunt which revealed stolen jewelry valued at $1,000 cached in a rusty piece of pipe in a city storage yard, today continued to grill Charles Weaver, 22, of Beach avenue, wholesale house robbery suspect.

Weaver pointed out the loot in the Highways and Sewers Department yard at Columbus avenue and St. Ives street yesterday after admitting, Detectives Edward McEntee and Clarence Raeder said, more than 100 robberies. From the old pipe, which had been used as a roller in moving heavy castings, poured a varied assortment of watches, rings and jeweled chains.

Weaver, who quit a $75-a-week job, according to detectives, to enter the second-story racket, talked freely after exacting a promise that no effort would be made to involve his wife in the robberies to which he confessed.

WALSH PUTS EXTRA POLICE WATCH ON HOLIDAY THIEVES

Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh today declared war upon the city's pickpockets and shoplifters. He began by issuing an order to all police inspectors and to Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd, directing them to establish special plainclothes squads for duty during the Christmas shopping rush in department stores, thoroughfares and street cars crowded with shoppers.

He has also asked police magistrates to sentence all pickpockets and shoplifters arrested to 90 days in jail without the option of a fine. This action is in accordance with an old state law, which may be invoked in sentencing common thieves.

The superintendent also is establishing a precedent by a request he has made to magistrates, asking them to bring all arrested pickpockets and shoplifters before him in the City-County Building after hearings. He intends to interrogate them personally with a view of gaining pertinent information regarding their possible police records in this or other cities.

Inspector Boyd has already detailed a number of plainclothesmen for duty in department stores. In the past two weeks they arrested 15 shoplifters, most of them women, and six pickpockets. Inspector James Hoey of the downtown and Hill districts also has picked a special squad of plainclothesmen. They will begin their duties in stores and streets this afternoon.

HEALTH BUTTON BRINGS $5

To members of Rodef Shalom Sisterhood, Mrs. J. Leonard Levy, chairman, in charge of the Christmas seal sale in the Union Trust Building, belongs the distinction of receiving the highest price yet paid for one of the little health buttons, which this year are an adjunct of the Christmas seal sale.

Five dollars was the amount slipped into the contribution box at the booth by an anonymous donor. The button sells as low as five cents, but there is no limit upward to the amount which will be accepted for one. The health buttons have been bringing a dollar apiece at some of the other booths.

The button sale is intended for those who have already purchased seals through the mail and who may wish to make an additional contribution to the anti-tuberculosis work of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh.

Training of Men To Run Cities Advocated

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, speaking yesterday at founder's day exercises at Drexel Institute, declared there was "no magic" in the term city manager.

"The question is," he said, "are we training a group of men in this country who will be capable of assuming the exacting and important functions of city management?"

ARBITRATORS OFFER AID IN S. AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A plan whereby the Pan-American arbitration conference, now in session here, would offer its good offices to Paraguay and Bolivia for settlement of their boundary dispute, was presented to the conference today by its special committee dealing with the controversy.

The plan provided that if both Bolivia and Paraguay accept the offer of the conference, the committee already appointed to look into the matter would be maintained to conciliate the dispute.

It was emphasized at the conference that whereas Argentina was undertaking to mediate the whole vast problem of boundary relations between Paraguay and Bolivia, the arbitration conference would only deal with the circumscribed problem of the difficulties arising out of the recent clash of troops on the boundary.

BOULDER POWER BILL NEARS FINAL VOTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Spurred by the knowledge that a final vote on the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill seems near, the Senate today turned to the consideration of a few minor amendments designed to perfect the measure, which has been years in the making.

Minor revisions were rejected one after another as the Senate, in supporting Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, author of the bill, appealed for quick action. The first amendment to go down was that of Senator Hayden (Dem.), of Arizona, providing that Arizona might levy taxes upon power output of any private concern which built a plant at Boulder Dam.

BACK IN HOUSE

The Boulder Dam question was brought before the House again when Representative Swing (Rep.), of California, co-author of the bill, analyzed the report of the Sibert board of engineers in a speech.

The last remaining barrier was believed removed in the Senate yesterday by the adoption of amendments respecting the cost and income of the project and, the power plant to be built at the dam.

The first proposal, made by Senator Phipps, Colorado, reduced the total amount to be amortized by $25,000,000, by providing that the flood control works in Imperial Valley, which would cost that figure, be excluded from the general amortization and be repaid to the government from revenues distinct from those set aside for amortization.

Under this arrangement, Arizona and Nevada would probably receive a greater return from the project by means of a fund from revenue set up for that purpose.

COUP OF WETS CERTAIN OF REVERSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS.)—The Senate's "one-man" appropriation of $270,627,384 for prohibition enforcement will bring a "showdown," it was apparent today, on the question of dry law enforcement.

With the wets contending for the last several years that actual enforcement of the Volstead act would require hundreds of millions of dollars, Senator William Cabell Bruce (D.), of Maryland, by a coup, had the $270,627,384 appropriation incorporated in the Treasury appropriation bill. He secured approval of his amendment while confusion reigned in the Senate and scarcely a senator present realized at the time what he had accomplished.

The fight today was transferred to the conference between the Senate and House, where all differences between their respective bills are adjusted.

LOOK FOR SLASH

In all probability, the Senate's appropriation will be slashed down to the $14,500,000 level approved by the House a week ago and which a majority of the Senate thought had been approved by the upper branch.

Whatever happens, there is likely to be considerable debate in both branches when the conference report comes back for final enactment.

The $270,627,384 appropriation naturally must fall by the wayside or President Coolidge undoubtedly would veto the bill. This sum would represent an increase of $257,127,384 over the recommendation of the budget bureau.

It would fall in line with the President's threat to disapprove any measure authorizing large expenditures—not approved by the budget—for which funds were not provided for some source other than the Treasury.

The conferees probably will not meet before tomorrow, with a decision likely Saturday.

Sleeping Sickness Cures to Be Tested

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Dr. Warren K. Spratman-Thomas, 28, is taking 18,000 doses of six new drugs to Africa to test them as possible cures for sleeping sickness.

THREE SOUGHT IN HOLDUP

Police today were seeking three robbers who yesterday escaped with a satchel containing more than $2,000 after holding up Thomas Finley, of Hays street, Wilkinsburg, district superintendent for a chain store company.

Finley was held up as he left a store at Kelley street and Collier avenue, where he had collected the day's receipts—his thirty-third collection for the day. One of the robbers thrust a gun against Finley's back, just as he stepped into his car.

Finley fell into his car face down, but a second member of the gang jerked him to his feet. A third man grabbed Finley's satchel. The second man struck Finley on the jaw, felling him, and the robbers ran to a waiting auto and drove off.

When running at capacity the tannery employed 250 men, but it had been on a curtailed schedule for some time. The fire was declared under control at 1 a. m.

NEW OFFERING BY OMAHA BEE-NEWS

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Omaha Bee-News, newest member of the Hearst Publications, Incorporated, group, is represented in the financial field today with the public offering of an issue of $2,500,000 Bee News Publishing Company 6% serial debentures by Halsey, Stuart & Co., and Anglo London Paris Company. The debentures mature serially from November 1, 1931, and are offered at prices to yield from 6.10% to 6.25%, according to maturity.

A pioneer paper of the West, the Omaha Bee, established in 1871, and the Omaha News, with a record of 28 years of publication behind it, were combined in 1927 to form the Omaha Bee-News, a paper having morning, evening and Sunday editions. Shortly after the consolidation, the new paper was housed in a newly constructed newspaper plant of the most modern type.

In August of the present year, the Bee-News was acquired by the Hearst organization and became a member of one of the units of the organization, Hearst Publications, Incorporated. This group consists, in addition to the Bee-News, of six outstanding papers of the country—the San Francisco Examiner, San Francisco Call and Post, the Los Angeles Herald, Oakland Post-Enquirer and Seattle Post-Intelligencer, which six papers enjoy extremely substantial earnings.

Under the provisions of a debenture retirement agreement, Hearst Publications, Incorporated, is in effect responsible for the principal and interest of these debentures, amount to a maximum annual charge of $344,000.

Some interesting facts regarding the scope of the Hearst organization are made public in connection with the financing, among them being that the Hearst organization is the largest publishing business in the world, with a gross business for 1927 in excess of $187,000,000, and controls and manages 28 newspapers with a combined net paid circulation of approximately 5,000,000, and nine magazines with a circulation of approximately 4,000,000.

All Remedies Fail To Help Victim Of Hiccoughs

The hiccoughs continue unabated despite the fact every remedy known to medical science has been tried.

Weather Conditions.

Low barometric pressure is dominating the weather over much the greater portion of the country, and, as a result, cloudy weather covers nearly the entire country, and precipitation occurred over much the greater portion. The principal disturbance in the East is centered over Northern Indiana and Illinois. It produced rain nearly everywhere from the central plains eastward to the coast, and it is raining this morning in the Ohio Valley states, the Lake region, and the Middle Atlantic states. Another disturbance, centered over Northern Arizona and Southern Utah is producing snow over the Rocky Mountain states.

There was little change in temperatures over the East, but over the Northwest there was a change to considerable warmer.

River Conditions.

The rainfall up to 8 a. m. was light. It is still raining over both river basins, and rain is expected to continue throughout today and tonight. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.3 feet. Dam No. 2, 8.1, and Dam No. 6, 8.1. The dams are up. The rivers will be rising by Saturday morning.

FOR half a century the Richman organization has worked toward a single objective—to give men more clothes quality; more VALUE than their money could buy elsewhere.

We know Richman's Clothes are unusually good because we make them in our own factories—quality is safeguarded in every step of the production by highly trained workers who own a big interest in this business. We know the fabrics and other materials we use could not be sold at much less than $50 except for the fact that we buy immense quantities for cash.

Volume counts in this business just as it does in automobiles or any other manufactured product. You get most for your money in Richman's Clothes because you buy direct from the world's largest manufacturing retailers.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

SOME of your friends can tell you how good Richman's Clothes are. But the real test is to buy one of these suits or overcoats and see how well it looks on you—how long it wears. You'll find selection easy, for our immense stocks include every good style to be found anywhere—all the smart weaves, patterns, shades and mixtures—a range of sizes so complete that we can easily fit men who think they are hard to fit, as well as those of average build.

You can pay only one price at Richman's no matter what you choose—$22.50 for any suit, overcoat or tuxedo suit with silk vest.

A gift you may depend upon to please any man—Richman's Clothes. We sell merchandise gift certificates for any amount you wish to give him.

TRAFFIC GROUP TO ASK BAN ON HORSES

Horse-drawn vehicles will disappear from city streets within five years if the Better Traffic Committee has its way.

The committee met yesterday and decided to have representation before the meeting December 18 of the State Highway Commission when consideration will be given to amendments to the state vehicular code. Members of the committee believe horse-drawn vehicles contribute in a great degree to traffic congestion on streets and they propose to ask the state authorities to prohibit "old Dobbin" the use of city arteries.

The committee further decided to ask the county commissioners to install a "pretzel bend" to divert north bound traffic on Liberty Bridge to Water street and west bound traffic on the Boulevard of the Allies to the north approach of Liberty Bridge. The committee also urged early construction of the proposed ramp leading from Liberty Bridge to Water street.

The committee decided to establish a 60-day trial period of "no parking" instead of the one-hour privilege on Liberty avenue, between Fifth and Seventh avenues.

A protest against "one-eyed headlights" submitted by the Pittsburgh Motor Club was referred to Safety Director James M. Clark.

BOY TO GO FREE FOR HOLIDAYS

Judge George V. Moore, sitting in Criminal Court late yesterday, showed the Christmas spirit by delaying the sentencing of Charles Butterworth, 17, of Norwich street, until January 2, the first court day of the new year. The Judge indicated, however, that the youth would be sentenced to from six to 12 months in jail on a charge of felonious assault and battery, of which he was found guilty this week.

Young Butterworth was convicted of fracturing the skull of Motorcycle Patrolman Frank Hutchison with a hammer last August when the officer tried to arrest the young man's mother, Mrs. Samuel Butterworth, because she was fighting with a neighbor. The Judge announced that he would entertain a motion for a parole after 60 days.

Tallulah Bankhead To Wed in January

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(AP.)—Tallulah Bankhead, former American actress, said her marriage to Count Anthony De Bosdari probably would take place about the third week in January in either London or Paris. "We shall probably go to France and perhaps to America for our honeymoon," she said. Miss Bankhead said that she expected to return to England and resume her stage work. Count De Bosdari recently was divorced in Chicago from Josephine Fish.

BETTER EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Employment conditions at the beginning of December were held to be generally satisfactory over the country as a whole by the United States Employment Service in its regular monthly review.

In spite of the seasonal decrease in out-of-door construction, the report found that metal mining and metal working trades were particularly speeding operations and increasing working forces and that building volume was being well maintained.

It also said that such dissimilar lines of industry as coal mining and department store operating were likewise indicating increases in persons on payrolls. A surplus of agricultural workers in California, and a winter shutdown of Northwestern sawmill and logging plants were among the less favorable points noted. However, the report concluded that "in no locality was there any serious unemployment" on December 1.

SOME months ago I started the marketing of ACIDINE, a product of which great things were claimed by those who had tested it—incidentally they were a group of medical and drug men whose experience in drug manufacture reached back three-quarters of a century, and whose reputation for knowledge and reliability in this field was beyond reproach.

Their enthusiasm and tests of this product, substantiated by hundreds of testimonials, convinced me that ACIDINE was no ordinary preparation, no quack medicine, but an honest-to-goodness blessing to those who suffered from the curse of stomach troubles, acidosis, sick headaches, head colds, toxic poisons in the blood leading to bad complexion, rheumatism, and other illnesses.

For more than six months ACIDINE has been available to the public. More than 99% of the purchasers of ACIDINE have indicated they are satisfied. Many of them consider it almost priceless to their happiness and well being.

If you are one who suffers from acidosis, stomach troubles, sourness, and the resulting spread of toxic poisons through the system causing head colds, sick headache, rheumatic pains and bad teeth,—I say to you, try ACIDINE at my risk. If it doesn't help you, your druggist will refund your money. No matter what prescription you have tried, give ACIDINE a chance, and you will find sure relief.

TOO EARLY FOR 'AIR FLIVVER,' SAYS FORD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Henry Ford said here today he had abandoned his experiments with a light airplane which "might be used as commonly as automobiles" because he believed it impractical at this time.

He predicted, however, that the "flivver plane" would become a reality as soon as the public became sufficiently "airminded" to insure its success.

Mr. Ford was questioned by newspaper men before being formally introduced at the international civil aeronautics conference, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was an interested listener.

"It will be necessary to develop an engine of high performance and very light weight before the light plane will become practical," Mr. Ford said.

SEES GREATER PROGRESS

"Will the next 25 years witness as great a development in aviation as the past 25 years?" he was asked.

"I think we can expect greater progress in the next 10 years than we have seen in the last 25," Mr. Ford answered.

"Along what lines will the development be made?"

"It may be in the lighter-than-air or in heavier-than-air, or more possibly in a combination of the two. I have thought for some time that wings might be put on our Zeppelins to give advantage."

He declared he was investigating the possibilities of oil burning engines for airplanes.

ROAD MARKER FUND O.K'D

The proposal to mark all Allegheny county roads with metal warning and direction signs became a reality today when the county commissioners continuing their budget sessions, appropriated $30,000 for the purpose.

The request of George S. Davidson of the County Planning Commission for $265,000 to continue the topographical survey of the county was held over. About $175,000 was chopped from the requests at this morning's session, approximately $100,000 being in requests for road construction funds which already have been set aside.

Efforts to secure new and additional automobiles met hard sledding. A request for $4,000 for a car for the head of the roads bureau was cut in half. Two requests totaling $2,250 for a touring car and a truck in the sign and safety department were cut to $1,000 for a truck. Requests for two automobiles in the investigation and claim division were held over.

Boy Dies Crossing Street to See Santa Claus

Crossing the street to get a better view of Santa Claus cost William Sullivan, 10, of 1017 Neal street, West Homestead, his life. An automobile struck him as he crossed Eighth avenue at West street, Homestead, last night, fracturing his skull and causing his death in the Homestead Hospital 30 minutes later.

The boy was watching a parade sponsored by the Homestead business men. He was crossing the street to see Kris Kringle driving with reindeers. Police arrested Mike Raddi, of 726 Kuhn street, Mt. Washington, as the driver.

SHIP CAPTURED LANDING HUGE RUM CARGO

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The ship Harbourtrader, with more than two-thirds of a big cargo of liquor apparently safely ashore, has fallen into the hands of the Coast Guard two miles off Rockaway Inlet, Long Island. Ten prisoners were taken and 1,500 cases of liquor valued by the raiders at $150,000 were seized.

Coast Guard officials reported that the value of the vessel's liquor cargo before its obvious depletion had been $500,000. They believed she had been acting as the mother ship for several smaller rum running craft. The Harbourtrader left St. Pierre, Miq., late last month.

The ship was seized by a Coast Guard boat commanded by Oliver Pickford, a boatswain, and was towed to the Coast Guard base on Staten Island, where her crew was landed.

Broker Arrested In Stock Theft

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A Broad street broker was arrested last night on a charge of receiving stolen property after part of a $26,000 consignment of stock stolen May 21 by a pseudo messenger had been traced to him. The broker, Harry Phillips, said he had purchased the $15,000 worth of stock in good faith.

Father of 5 Guilty Of Slaying Divorcee

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Archie F. Much, 33-year-old mill worker, and the father of five children, was convicted of murdering Mrs. Catherine Clark, Boston divorcee, here last night, the jury recommending that he be hanged.

SLAIN COUPLE'S SON ASSERTS INNOCENCE

CARBONDALE, Ill., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Victor A. Hundley, son of J. C. Hundley, ex-mayor of Carbondale, who with his wife, Ella, was shot to death in their home Wednesday night, was questioned all night by State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis and Sheriff William Flannagan. He did not vary from his story of being asleep when the fatal shots were fired.

Hundley said he realized there was suspicion against him. He gave a minute account of his whereabouts Wednesday night, saying he was at home all evening, reading awhile and then retiring, to be awakened by officers, who told him of the death of his father and step-mother.

At the inquest, which was begun yesterday, it was brought out that Hundley was worth $100,000, while other estimates placed it as high as $300,000. Joab Goodall, the last known person to see the couple alive, testified Hundley made a will two years ago, bequeathing most of his property to his son, from whom he had been estranged many years. Six months ago, Goodall said, Hundley told him he intended "cutting Victor off because he is no good."

Two Girls, Man Hurt As Auto Hits Pole

Ann Ludwig, 19, and her sister, Sophie, 22, both of Bridgeville, were cut and bruised early today when their automobile overturned in Bigelow boulevard after it had skidded and struck a pole near the Seventeenth street incline. The sisters, along with James Welsh, 29, of 5319 Butler street, driver of the machine, were treated at the Mercy Hospital. Welsh suffered body bruises.

Why Can Not the United States Mind Its Own Business?

refurnished it, called it by a different name, and went before the public for a mandate to meddle in European matters and allow Europe to meddle in our matters through the medium of a so-called world court.

This proposition was also submitted to the people in the elections of 1926, and nearly all the senators who had voted for the World Court and who were up for re-election were defeated; and nearly all the candidates for senator who were opposed to the World Court were elected.

And some of the senators who had voted for the World Court, when they saw how the political wind was blowing, changed their attitude and said they were sorry and would vote against the World Court hereafter.

So AGAIN the mandate of the people to their government was to attend to its own business and look after its own people and leave foreign complications to foreign nations.

In spite of the very obvious and definite attitude of the American people, however, in spite of the repeated mandate to mind our own business, our public men insist upon seeking publiciity through foreign pacts and poses.

Mr. Kellogg now has a treaty which he says does not mean anything, and which probably does not as far as the action of European nations is concerned, but which, if it ever should become an actual treaty through the approval of the Senate, might mean a lot as far as the peace and independence of the United States are concerned.

If the Senate thinks that Mr. Kellogg's pact expresses the policy of George Washington and the spirit of the American people, let them submit this piece of publicity and promotion to the voters and ask for a mandate.

They will get a mandate, and it will be the same one they have had twice before; namely, to mind their own business and attend to the welfare of the people of the United States, and keep free from foreign entanglements of whatever nature.

Even President-elect Hoover, as soon as he was elected, seemed to think it was incumbent upon him to get out of the United States and begin to be concerned with other interests and other affairs than those of the people of the United States.

He went to South America on a mission of peace and good will.

Peace and good will already existed between the United States and the republics of South America; and peace and good will have not apparently been encouraged among the nations of South America by Mr. Hoover's visit.

Paraguay and Bolivia are in each other's hair at the moment of this writing, and the anarchists of the Argentine are playfully preparing to blow Mr. Hoover up at the earliest opportunity.

We quote headlines from the ultra-conservative Los Angeles Times, a paper which certainly does not overstate the situation:

ARGENTINA REVEALS PLOT TO ASSASSINATE HOOVER

Explosives Seized in Rooms Used by Anarchist Conspirators; Planned to Bomb Train.

BOLIVIANS LEAP TO ARMS AS WAR CLOUDS DARKEN

Class of 1929 Called to Colors; Even Boy Scouts Volunteer; Paraguay Also in Ferment.

Mr. Hoover is a good and a great man, and he will make a good and a great president if he will only stay at home and attend to the business of the people of the United States.

He was not elected to be blown up in some Southern American country.

He was not elected to try to create peace and good will between South American countries.

There will be no lack of peace and good will toward the United States if we mind our own business.

But if we do not mind our own business, we may get into trouble almost anywhere and almost any time.

In view of the repeated mandates of the people of the United States to mind our own business, WHY DON'T WE DO IT?

Why can't our politicians get sufficient publicity and sufficient reputation of the right kind by following the American people's wishes and considering the American people's welfare and attending to the things they were elected to attend to?

POLICE-LAWYER COURT GRAFT CHARGED

A system of collusion between police officials and lawyers is clogging the wheels of justice in the City Police courts, Inspector James Hoey charged today at the trial in Morals Court of three women accused of shoplifting.

Hoey declared prisoners were given counsel picked by police who later received a "cut" of the attorney's fee. As a result of Hoey's charges, Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh ordered an investigation and declared he would dismiss any police officer caught "steering" attorneys to police prisoners.

Hoey's charges were made during the hearing of Mrs. Freda Kennedy, 26, of Bridgeport, O.; Mrs. Cora Morgan, 27, and Mrs. May Hanson, 25, both of 122 Zane street, Wheeling.

CAME TO SHOP

The three women drove into Pittsburgh to do their Christmas shopping early with insufficient funds. They saw enticing lingerie displayed in downtown shops, were tempted, police say. Later they found themselves in the matron's department of Central Police Station.

In an affidavit sworn to before Magistrate Brandon the women charged that Attorney N. J. Lippard had been sent to them without any request by them for counsel.

Brandon asked Lippard to explain how he had been sent to see the women, but Lippard declined to do so. The magistrate declared he would take action before the county bar association against Lippard, and he immediately asked Supt. Walsh to investigate.

Following the hearing Attorney Lippard declared that he had been retained by telephone by a person who represented himself as a friend of the women involved. He denied that police had anything to do with his retention as counsel in the case.

CHEVROLET SIX ON VIEW HERE TOMORROW

The Pittsburgh district tomorrow will be given its first opportunity to view the new Chevrolet Six. The introduction will be made at an exhibition in the ball room of Hotel Schenley to continue Sunday and Monday until noon.

Four body models will be included in the display, which will be open from 10:30 a. m. to midnight tomorrow and Sunday. Two motors and one chassis also will be numbered among the new car exhibits. Moving pictures of the General Motors proving grounds and descriptions of the new cars, to be broadcast through the ball room through a system of amplifiers, with music by a symphony orchestra and soloists, will complete the program for the display.

Already more than 1,000,000 persons have seen the new Chevrolet at advanced showings. Originally only 11 showings had been planned for strategic centers throughout the country. H. J. Klingler, general sales manager, inspired by the enthusiasm that has greeted the new car every place it has been seen, decided last week to broaden the scope of these showings. According to present plans, 50 cities will have the opportunity of viewing the new "six" before it goes on the market with the beginning of the new year.

KIDNAP RACKET PLOTS BARED

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Frankie Moore, Fort Thomas, Ky., race horse man, who a year ago sued Rogers Hornsby baseball star, for almost $100,000 alleged to be due him on racing bets, told County Prosecutor Charles P. Taft yesterday that racketeers had made two attempts to kidnap him.

Moore's statement was made in connection with an investigation by county authorities into operations of racketeers here, who have kidnaped wealthy persons and extorted large sums of money from them.

"There have been several reports that gangsters were going to get me," Moore told the prosecutor.

The first of two unsuccessful kidnaping attempts occurred last June, he said, and the second attempt occurred 10 days ago.

Moore's case against Hornsby ended favorable to the ball player.

MOTHERS BEWARE A CHILDS COUGH

Stop Their Cough or Cold—Quick, Safe, Sure—Delay Is Dangerous.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY FOR WHOLE FAMILY

"My whole family, including the kiddies, love to take the cough and cold remedy our doctor recommended. It banishes colds, coughs, grippe and fortifies them against winter ills so nice. Helps appetite, too. No dope, alcohol, chloroform, etc.—a barrel of it would do no harm.

It is almost like ice cream and tastes so nice. Kids cry for Lin-O-Nine, which contains wholesome, body strengthening, tissue building Oils of Flaxseed, Eucalyptus, Cassia, Betula, Irish Moss and Glycerine, churned into a white cream flavored with Wintergreen. "Golly, it's good," kids say and so much more beneficial than nasty Cod Liver Oil. Doctors recommend Lin-O-Nine for grown-ups, too. 50c for large 7-oz. bottle at druggists, or big family size bottle, parcel post return mail, if you send dollar bill to Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md.

YORK, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—York County's famous "witchcraft murder" passed into its final phase last night when the jury at the coroner's inquest returned a verdict that John H. Blymyer, Wilbert G. STATE GRANGE SUBDUES REVOLT OF M'SPARRAN

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The fifty-sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange came to a close last night with the installation of officers.

State Master E. B. Dorsett, of Tioga county, and most of the officers who served with him during the last year, were re-elected. Mr. Dorsett won over Dr. D. C. Rankin, of Chester, the nominee of the McSparran group in the convention, by almost a two to one vote.

With the exception of W. D. Goodwin, of Bradford county, who conducted a sticker campaign against John H. Light, of Lebanon, for secretary, as a candidate with Dorsett backing, the entire slate of nominees favorable to Dorsett was swept into office.

The surprise of the election was the defeat of Harry H. Pratt, of Chester county, veteran member of the executive committee. Mr. Pratt will be replaced on the executive committee by H. A. Harshaw, of Crawford, a relative newcomer in state circles, who was not present at the convention.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers who were elected without opposition included J. Audley Boak, of Lawrence county, overseer, re-elected; the Rev. W. B. Keemer Juniata county, chaplain; Frank P. Willits, Delaware county, treasurer re-elected; J. Harshaw, Crawford county, executive committee; Isaac Gross, Bucks county, finance committee.

Paul Kochanski

Carnegie Music Hall

PROGRAM.

Praeludium E Major.....Bach
Trille du Diable.....Tartini
Larghetto affettuoso.
Allegro—Grave—Allegro assai.
(Trillo del diavolo).
Sonata A Major.....Brahms
Allegro amabile.
Andante tranquillo.
Allegretto grazioso (quasi Andante).
Nocturne. Cortege.....Lili Boulanger
Ruralia Hungarica.....Dohnanyi
Presto.
Andante rubato; Alla Zingaresca.
Molto vivace.
Albumblatt.....Wagner
Flight.....Kochanski
Dedicated to Col. Charles Lindbergh.
La Fille au cheveux de lin.....Debussy
El Amor Brujo.....M. de Falla

Paul Kochanski gave his violin recital in Carnegie Music Hall last night. After he had held his audience spellbound for two hours, we about determined that all the other violinists might just as well lay aside their bows and fiddles and leave the field free to Kochanski.

The program, the playing, all came from a supreme artist, imbued with youth, tremendous enthusiasm, and musicianship. With all his fire, Kochanski still retains the poise of a master. His spirit never makes a moment of weak technique. All the tricks are at his fingers end, and then he makes the audience forget them all and listen only to his message.

The program was generous beyond expectations. There was nothing trifling, and much that touched the stars. The difference in style between the reposeful classics of Bach and Tartini, the warmth of the Brahms Sonata, the wildness of the Dohnanyi, and the gentle charm of his Debussy, Kochanski accomplished with astonishing ease and certainty. The serenity of his tone removes much of the rigidity of older forms. Its color adds so infinitely to the whimsical miniatures of Lili Boulanger and his own pictorial "Flight" (the first airplane music for our programs), that the audience demanded repeats for all of them.

It would be impossible to choose the best from Kochanski's offerings, but we should be surprised ever to hear the Brahms Sonata again played with such variety of moods. Pierre Luboshutz was an excellent accompanist. We could welcome him every year if he played so beautiful a sonata.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away go indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c, 30c, 60c.

HER HUSBAND'S HAIR WAS FULL OF ITCHY DANDRUFF

Turning Gray, Too, and It Made Him Look Old and Untidy.

BEGAN GIVING HIM TREATMENT AT HOME

"I wish you could see the marvelous change in the appearance of his hair and scalp since I began rubbing into his scalp a little of this Lea's Hair Tonic—I figured if women could stimulate the growth and rid themselves of gray hairs and unhealthy scalp conditions with it—a man could do the same," declared a lady customer at the drug store.

"His scalp is as clean and healthy looking as a new born baby's, and Lea's Hair Tonic brought back the color to every gray hair in his head. Business friends say Harry looks years younger—yet never suspect how I worked rubbing in the Lea's with my finger tips. Gee, results were so splendid I began using it, too." Mrs. A. M. K.

Men like it for the way it stimulates the growth of hair and the way it rids the scalp of dandruff, and when their gray hairs start coming back to original color they are amazed. Lea's restores the scalp roots and hair to proper working conditions, which produce healthy, natural looking hair in abundance. It positively will stimulate the growth of hair on a larger percentage of bald heads than any other known tonic. Druggists have it, or send dollar bill to Lea Tonic Company, Brentwood, Md., for bottle and directions by return mail.

14-STORY FALL KILLS MAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Irwin Heilbroner, vice president of Weber & Heilbroner, haberdashers, fell 14 stories to his death last night from a bedroom window of his apartment in West Eighty-sixth street.

Mrs. Heilbroner said that her husband, who was 39, had suffered from vertigo and insomnia for five years. Police decided he had fallen when he tried to open a window.

Heilbroner was a nephew of the founder of the Weber & Teilbroner firm and was the last male member of a family long identified with the haberdashery business.

Final Hopes Fade For Condemned Men

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Final hopes of James and William Parker and John P. Wilson, Erie Negroes, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of an Erie grocer, faded yesterday when attorneys named by the court to defend them announced they would not take the case to the pardon board. The State Supreme Court this week refused to grant a new trial.

KILLER PUT TO DEATH AFTER WAIT FOR SHOW

OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 14.—"I'm game, I'm not worrying a bit."

With those words, among the few last he uttered on this earth, Thomas "Red" Moran went to his death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison shortly after 1 o'clock this morning for the murder of Patrolmen Edward Byrne and Frank Danckiewicz two years ago.

For 1,600 other prisoners in Sing Sing there were seats last night at the musical comedy, "No, No, Nannette," but for Red Moran the chair that was reserved was the electric chair.

For the others it was one of the gay nights of the year, the night of the annual prisoners' show. But for Moran it was the last night on earth.

On his last night of life, Moran was in one of his surly moods, and he made two strange requests. He asked for a pint of whisky and for permission to play cards with Keeper Henry J. Payton.

Warden Lawes refused to provide the liquor. But for three hours, while the musical show was being presented in another part of the prison, Moran and the guard played pinochle.

At midnight the game ended and from then until a few minutes before Moran went to the death chair the condemned man chatted with Father John McCaffrey, Catholic chaplain.

Then his time was up—and he went to the awaiting death chair.

The execution originally had been scheduled for 11 o'clock in the evening, but because of the show, was put over until 1 o'clock this morning.

The club plans to take over and maintain the American Eagle Airport at New Virginia.

'N. S. F.' Check Gets Man Liquor, $9 And 10 Days

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 14.—Rose Urban, Glenwood avenue, sold Harry Morrison, Ambridge, a pint of moonshine liquor, for which she says Morrison paid her with his personal check of $10. She deducted the price of the liquor and the change, $9, to the customer. But when she tried to cash the check at a local bank she was informed there were no funds. She told her story to the police.

Both Mrs. Urban and Morrison were taken into custody. Morrison was committed to 10 days in the borough lockup. Mrs. Urban will be charged with possession and sale of liquor.

Du Pont Acquires Grasselli Plant

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 14.—Merger of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company and the Grasselli Chemichal Company was placed on record here yesterday with the filing of the deed for the plant of the Chemical company at Beaver Falls to the DuPont organization. The merger became effective as of December 1. There will be no changes in the personnel or operation of the local plant, it is announced.

BOY MURDERER HELD SANE

STANTON, Mich., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Fifteen-year-old Jimmie Deacon, confessed slayer of Miss Flossie Carter, Sheridan school teacher, must face a charge of first degree murder. The youth was given into the jurisdiction of the Montcalm County Circuit Court yesterday after he had been adjudged sane by three alienists.

He is to be arraigned on the murder charge Monday morning and if convicted, his punishment, under Michigan law, will be life imprisonment.

The boy has confessed to having beaten to death his 27-year-old teacher because she slapped him three years ago for throwing paper wads in school. The alienists concurred in an opinion that the boy is not insane, but is "intellectually and emotionally deficient."

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

—DOYLE BATTING FOR BOYLE—

A WEALTH of romance radiates from the veteran news photographer. Although this worker's personal viewpoint often regards his tasks as prosaic, there are times when he experiences contacts that carry a big appeal to the reading public. You will see scores of such camera men at all important events in American life. Pittsburgh has its share of these men who so record high spots, among them being Frank E. Bingaman, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, whose 25 years of "shooting" make up a story as interesting as some of the biographies of prominent men.

Good manners and tact appear to be two of the essentials in the work of a newspaper photographer. Bingaman's fortunes have carried him rather close to no less than five of our Presidents—Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge. His contacts with the first three named were of a somewhat intimate nature.

ROOSEVELT came to Pittsburgh after he had left the presidency. Of course his presence here was a big story. "Bing" was assigned to get a picture of Teddy's arrival at the Pennsylvania Station. The local committee, however, had been informed there would be no time for flashlights in the station and the photographers were so advised. Bingaman said nothing; he knew from experience that the bigger the man the easier he is to approach, so when the virile Roosevelt stepped lively through the station promenade, Frank asked him if he would stop on the outside long enough to allow a shot. Teddy smiled, and as soon as he reached the outside he faced the crowd following him, threw up both hands and shouted, "Stop!" Bing got his picture.

Taft came to Pittsburgh shortly after he became President. The photographers stayed with him until the program was completed. Then they departed—all but "Bing." The Pirates were playing at Exposition Park. The President wanted to see a game and away he went to the ball yard, quite informally. When he was ushered to his seat in the wooden grandstand, "Bing" was close by with his camera.

* * *

THE game was very close, but devoid of thrills for the most part. Taft had not "let go" of himself yet for the reason that nothing of an outstanding nature occurred. And then in the eighth or ninth inning, Honus Wagner walloped the ball for a three-bagger with two on. The President acted just like the rest of the onlookers, and the picture "Bing" snapped on that occasion was played up in many parts of the country. It still hangs on the walls of the local baseball club's offices.

The day following the Taft episode at the ball park, Frank was at work when the 'phone rang. The voice on the wire said he was Archibald Butts, military aide to President Taft. Taft was sheltered in the Laughlin home, Mrs. Laughlin being the sister of Mrs. Taft. The man on the 'phone desired "Bing" to come at once to the home to take special group pictures. Frank, suspicious he was being "kidded," reported the conversation to Frank Jenks, city editor. "Sounds o. k. to me," said Jenks. "You and Dick Farrell go out right away." Dick was a star reporter of that era. The two proceeded to the home and the next morning a highly exclusive story appeared, generously illustrated with family groups.

"BING" was in Chicago when Harding was nominated. It was his job to get pictures of all probable nominees. Harding wasn't running very heavy at the start, but Frank thought he should get his picture. He accosted him near his hotel. While he was getting his camera ready, Harding reached in the photographer's pocket and helped himself to a Pittsburgh stogie, he remarking, "I like to chew on these;" then as "Bing" completed the snap, he was handed a cigar with the advice, "Let me know what you think of that brand—I like it fine."

Two days later the Harding stuff began to boil. Bingaman had taken several "shots" of the Senator, but he wanted more. Important conferences held Harding, however. The future President came to the door once and "Bing" talked with him. He wanted to oblige, but told Frank of the importance of staying on the job, or words to that effect. Shortly after this a committee came to ask Harding to repair to the Coliseum, where he was nominated. On the way out of his hotel he obliged Bingaman with pictures.

The Lowly Pretzel Comes Into Its Own After All These Years!

ANNA FULTON SHOWS PRETZELS OF TODAY
Prohibition has elevated the pretzel! No more is this salty companion of the beer stein to be found only on the polished mahogany of the saloon. Instead crisp, fresh twisters, like Anna Fulton, a modern pretzel-bender, is exhibiting, are to be found in drug stores and grocery stores.

PRETZELS GAIN NEW SOCIAL POSITION

Pretzels, once habitue of barrooms with the beer stein, have at last attained social distinction!

No longer is this delectable, twisted bit of salted dough compelled to suffer at the hands of human flotsam and jetsam which once parted swinging doors to rest idly on the polished mahogany of the pre-war saloon!

No more are its crushed and broken pieces found ground into the sawdust which once covered the baarroom floor!

Today, the pretzel has taken its place—a prominent one—on the drugstore counter. It is to be found also in the grocery store and in high class confectioneries. Prohibition has elevated the pretzel!

INTERESTING HISTORY

The pretzel has had a most interesting career. Originating, according to legend, many centuries ago among the peasants of Southern Germany in the vicinity of the Black Forest, it was called the bretzel and at first was made and eaten during Holy Week. The curious twist was intended to represent the knots by which Christ's hands were bound.

The bretzel proved a tasty morsel and as it became more popular, its religious significance soon was forgotten. Because of its salty taste, it soon fell into close companionship with the beer stein.

"Pretzels and beer" still is a byword in Germany and in some parts of the eastern part of the United States where the habit will remain as long as home-brew is possible. The so-called "Pennsylvania Dutch" introduced the custom in this country and its popularity has spread throughout the state—even to Pittsburgh, which supports several important pretzel manufactories.

Yet, verily, "pretzel bending" is one of Pittsburgh's most important industries, but, alas, the old-timer with his pipe and stein is passe and youth and beauty have supplanted him in keeping with the "march of progress."

He was released on the forfeit after he returned the money to the women and after the theaters involved—Loew's Aldine, Loew's Penn, the Stanley and Davis—refused to prosecute him. He was to be arraigned on a technical charge of suspicious person.

SCOUT CAMP FATE RESTS WITH SERVICE CLUB HEADS

Already $2,500 of the $10,000 needed to finance the camp has been subscribed. The Wilkinsburg Lions Club members promised $1,500 and the Braddock Rotary Club $1,000. John F. Miller of Wilmerding, president of the East Boroughs council, has donated 58 acres for the camping grounds.

The camp will need a mess hall and assembly building for next year, according to Mr. Miller, who said that if the money is secured the buildings can be completed for the coming season. A swimming pool, 50x120 feet, has been begun and will be ready next summer, Mr. Miller said. The pool will be fed by a mountain stream.

At a previous meeting the presidents of the various east boroughs service clubs were told of the scouts' need and promised to report Monday night as to the action their organizations will take.

Failure to Send For Wife, Costs Divorce

Judge James H. Gray of Common Pleas Court has refused Wasyl Derkacz, 1429 Reedsdale street, a divorce from Maria Derkacz, who is living in Europe, because the libellant failed to file testimony taken in the case, accusing his wife of desertion.

The court holds that the libellant offered no proof that he had sent his wife money to come to this country to make a home for her. The court held that the testimony showed that she could not come because of the law regulating the quota of citizens from the land in which she now lives.

Madge Feigns Illness When She Sees Dudley as She Starts on Honeymoon

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Madge Sayre, pretty and young, awakens on the morning of her twenty-first birthday rebelling against the dinginess of the New York apartment she shares with her father, an unsuccessful inventor. She craves thrills and the joys and luxuries of life. She meets handsome Carroll Dudley, artist and aviator, at a party given by Frances Storrs, a friend. He pursuades her to pose for him and after professing his love for her, which she accepts, it develops that he is already married. Added to this he exhibits her picture at a party in violation of his promise not to do so. Madge, blind with rage, cuts the canvas to ribbons and rushes from his studio. She is struck by the automobile of Michael Winchester, scion of an old and wealthy New York and Virginia family. In the hospital she finds herself surrounded by every attention the Winchester millions can give her, and more too, as young Winchester falls in love with her. Winchester sends her to Atlantic City to recuperate. When she returns Winchester begs her to dine with him at his home, after which he proposes to her. She finds herself in his arms, consenting, if he wants her, knowing that she doesn't love him. She is still in love with Dudley.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Tam, born snob that he was, seemed to approve the equipage as he sat by Madge's side while the greys trotted smartly down the avenue, many a traffic cop smilingly giving them the right of way.

The days that followed passed as though in an orchid-colored haze for Madge. She had no time for thought.

Meanwhile, to her delight, the ankle and strained ligaments healed so quickly that she discarded even the canes, and, walking without a limp, she sensed only occasionally a twinge of pain.

Mrs. Van Tyn, who belonged to the old school, caused tradespeople to bring their wares for her inspection, so that the vast drawing-room often resembled a department store, while fitters and dressmakers worked in some of the upstairs rooms of the mansion.

And the press! It was Madge's first experience of what the rich must suffer, although it gave her a curious excitement. Despite Mrs. Van Tyn's protests, Madge was forced to give several interviews and to pose again and again for the clicking cameras. Headlines screamed of the romantic and suddenly-arranged wedding between the beautiful unknown girl and one of the world's richest men. Telegrams and cablegrams from all over the world poured in to Washington Square, while it seemed that even the big house could not possibly contain the gifts.

But at last the wedding morning dawned.

And while Madge waited for her breakfast, she glanced through a stack of letters and telegrams that Anna had neatly slit at the ends.

Among them was a cablegram from England. It read:

LET ME GREET YOU ON YOUR WEDDING MORNING MY DEAR LITTLE SISTER TO BE TO TELL YOU HOW SINCERE IS THE WELCOME I HAVE FOR YOU STOP IF YOU ARE ONLY HALF AS SWEET AS MICHAEL CABLES ME THEN YOU ARE GOING SOME AS WE AMERICANS SAY STOP CHEERIO AND LOTS OF LUCK AND LOVE FROM YOUR SISTER TO BE (Signed) EDITH.

For a moment Madge did not understand. Then suddenly she grasped it: this informal and affectionately-worded cablegram, simply signed "Edith" was from none other than Michael's sister, the Duchess of Penndale!

The morning and early afternoon slipped by, and Madge, very much in a haze, entered the big drawing-room on the arm of her father. There were flowers everywhere, and some 50 intimate friends. Two white-robed clergymen stood in front of an improvised altar banked high with lilies. And there was Michael, his face white and set.

More haze.... chanted words .... Was she actually being married, or was this a dream?

"I require and charge you both, as ye will answer at the dreadful day of judgment when the secrets of all hearts shall be disclosed—"

The secrets of all hearts! Well, she had told Michael, and Michael understood.

More words — more scattered phrases—and her own voice, though it seemed to belong to someone else, saying: "I do!" Then the ring of platinum and diamonds.

The ceremony ended . . . Michael was kissing her, reverently. And her father! Dear old father, pretending that he wasn't weeping—and others claiming the privilege of the occasion.

Then the reception, when Madge and Michael stood under a huge floral bell in the canopied garden . . . more haze. And Madge felt that if this were a quiet wedding, she was glad she had escaped a big one . . . time to change into a going-away frock of ashes-of-rose chiffon, with a huge floppy hat. Everyone saying goodbye, and there was Michael leading her down the carpeted steps to the waiting car. She heard the buzz of conversation from the gathered crowd, held back by special police. She saw cameramen grinding away.

She got into the car and Michael beside her, as a servant closed the door. The crowd cheered, and she leaned out mechanically to smile at them—and there—to the right—there, not five feet away, was the face of Carroll Dudley—Carroll, who was smiling bitterly . . .

CHAPTER XIV.

A MOMENTARY faintness threatened Madge as the car moved away.

"What is it, darling?" Michael asked anxiously.

"He—in the crowd there! With an awful expression!" Madge managed.

Michael, who loved her, understood to whom she referred. That "fellow Carroll Dudley?" he asked, and Madge knew nothing of the pain in his heart. "Don't you let him affect you like that, my sweet. Just put him out of your mind."

He began to talk of the wedding reception and of the people who had been there, as though nothing very serious had occurred. But he did not speak of love. He did not act the role of the eager bridegroom, and Madge, appreciating the fact, felt grateful.

But she must stop this nonsense, she told herself. Why should she become emotionally upset just because she had glimpsed Carroll among the crowd?

"You are a very understanding person, Michael," Madge rewarded him.

He took her hand fondly in his and kissed it adoringly.

"What a bride!" he whispered. "Do you mind doing me one little favor?"

"What?"

"Look a little less attractive in that pink hat thing of yours."

"Pink!" she sniffed. "Don't you know the difference between pink and ashes of roses?"

"But don't look so beautiful or I won't promise not to kiss you just as we get out of the car, and all the dear camera men are shooting at us. By the way, have you any idea of how unimportant I am? I've always heard that the bridegroom ranks far below—say the cook who made the cake!"

But now Madge was accustomed to what his wealth would do. Officials were awaiting them, and although several flashlights were taken, they were efficiently guarded and rushed to an elevator and down to the track where the private car was attached at the rear of the train.

But even Madge was a little surprised at the luxury that greeted her when she entered and Tam came rushing to welcome her. Anna was in attendance, and, as Michael went to change into a lighter suit, she led Madge to her own room.

Mr. Winchester found out from your father that you were fond of lavender and green, so," and here she opened the door, "Mr. Winchester had all this done in those colors for you."

Madge was touched at Michael's thoughtfulness, but she accepted the new decorations as a matter of course. Then she caught herself up suddenly. Then . . . one grew used to having everything in a very short while! Even the thrill of luxury didn't last.

"It was dear of you to think of the lavender and green," she thanked Michael, when she rejoined him for dinner.

After the dinner, they sat silent as the train sped through the June twilight. From within the car came the soft strains of a carefully muted victrola.

"Tell me about your travels," Madge suggested. "I want to go to the South Sea Islands—and to China. Can we, Michael?"

"Certainly not," he replied. "Don't you know that you only have to tell me that you want a slice of the moon and that it's up to me to get it for you?"

"Sweet thing!" she smiled at him, leaning her golden head back against the cushions he had arranged for her.

Michael rose and stooped over the chair. Madge knew that he was going to kiss her, and although she felt no repugnance, something forced her to turn her face aside. He would have kissed her mouth, but now, he crushed her cheek with his lips, and sat down again beside her.

Madge did not notice that his hands were trembling. He went on to speak of the yachting trip they would take together in the fall.

"If you get bored at Winchester Manor," he said, "we can come north again right away, and go to the Long Island place. Perhaps you won't like it, but so many generations of my family have spent their honeymoons in Virginia—that I couldn't help bringing you there."

"When do we arrive?" she asked.

He explained then that at a certain junction, the car would be dropped from the train, and then taken on by a special engine to the little country station near his old home.

At last he glanced at his watch. "You should not be too late, my sweet," he said. "You must look your best tomorrow when you see your new domain. All those dear people will be on tip-toe to welcome you."

To be continued Tomorrow.

Love's Fountain -:- By Madge Geyer

"THIS is the fountain of youth and love—
Come, maiden, fair, be not afraid to drink deeply.
For in each draught there's happiness divine
Awaiting each who has the courage to partake."

"Courage? Yes, this it takes, and you who quaff the cup
Will learn in days to come, of all the bitterness
And ecstasy that lies so deeply hidden
In this, the fountain of all Love and Youth."

Harry Underwood Breezes Into a Strained Situation

FOR the fraction of a second Dicky's eyes flamed in wrath as he saw Philip Veritzen seated so close to Junior and me. Then, with the self-control and easy grace which are his when he chooses to exercise them, he came forward with a smile on his face and hand outstretched in hospitable greeting.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Veritzen!" he said, with the touch of formality he always uses to an older man. "I can see by the boy's eyes and the looks of the room that you've been anticipating Father Christmas a bit. Mighty good of you, I'm sure, but I'm afraid you've used up a good deal of your valuable time."

I wondered if Philip Veritzen caught as I did the venom beneath the last words. As clearly as if Dicky had uttered them, I heard the suppressed words:

"Time which would better be used in some other way," and knew that my husband's wrath, now firmly hatched down by his will, only needed a match to explode it.

There was nothing to be read from my employer's face, however, and his voice was as suavely unruffled as his words.

"I can think of no better use of my time than to bring a little offering to Junior," he said, and I saw Dicky's eyes go from the elaborate basket of fruit to the intricate toys and knew that mentally he was computing their cost and hotly resenting the flamboyant outlay of the great man.

"Hel-lo!" came a deep voice from the doorway. "What is this, anyway? a Bagdad bazar? What, ho! Veritzen. Are you the man responsible for so much subversion of discipline? I warn you, man, that this little lady may look mild, but she's got Foch and Pershing backed off the boards? Better be careful!"

The tension of my nerves relaxed as the tall figure of Harry Underwood came through the doorway just behind Katherine, at whom he waved his hand airily as he uttered his warning. There can be no serious clash of temperaments or indeed any unpleasantness when Lillian's husband is in the offing, and does not choose to encourage conflict, although, indeed, he can be fiercely belligerent if he wishes and the occasion demands warfare. But usually he plays a low comedy role and banishes all contention by the sheer impact of his good-humored drollery.

Katherine laughed, but I noticed that she gave a searching look at Junior before she answered Mr. Underwood's sally.

"That is a terrible reputation," she said, "but I am going to live up to it in 10 minutes, sooner if my patient gets excited."

"I'm the one that's excited," Mr. Underwood declaimed, "when I look at that thing Veritzen has spread out there. What is it, Phil?"

He came over to the bed and looked over the marvelous toy with meticulous attention.

"It's just a model Gerder's working on," my employer said, naming one of the masters of mechanical devices used in the production of theatrical spectacles.

"Whew!" Mr. Underwood whistled incredulously, and I shared his amazement. For the temporary pleasure of a child, the great producer must have paid an inordinate sum. I did not dare to look at Dicky, but Harry Underwood forestalled any comment he might make.

"Show all us little boys how it works, Phil," he said, and at Junior's delighted chuckle, Dicky could do nothing else save join his friend in watching Mr. Veritzen manipulate the toy. And such is the power of mechanical toys to enthrall any masculine imagination that long before the 10 minutes named by Katherine had gone, even Dicky's grouch apparently had vanished, and the three men were taking turns in making the marvelous toy work for Junior's edification.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

—By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND—

Catarrh a Common Cause of Deafness

ONE of the most hopeless of all ailments is steadily progressing deafness. The way to cure deafness is to avoid having it. When once it begins the chances are the trouble will go on and on, growing worse year by year.

DR. COPELAND

The most common cause of deafness is catarrh, a condition which begins in the nose and its cavities. There is an inflammation of the mucous membrane. This extends up the passageway to the middle ear, both lined with mucous membrane.

We are learning a good deal about the evil effects of bad teeth and gums, diseased tonsils and bad digestion. There can be no doubt that pus absorption from any source will lower the resistance of all parts of the body.

Fermenting substances in the intestinal tract produce poisons which affect the whole system. Uncleanliness within the body is worse than uncleanliness of the outside.

Nature made the skin on purpose to protect the body. It is almost as imperative to the absorption of poisons as is the leather of our shoes. Indeed, the leather is nothing more than prepared and preserved animal skin.

But the body and its various tissues cannot resist the poisons generated within its various organs and other parts. The strongest of men will suffer the evil effects of such agents.

I have no doubt the various catarrhal troubles from which men and women suffer are influenced by such poisons as I have mentioned. We cannot hope to be well in all our parts unless every part is normal.

Of course, there are other causes for deafness than catarrh. Some persons have a tendency to over-secretion on the part of the wax glands of the ear canal.

It is surprising what masses of wax can be crowded into that small cavity. Time and time again I have removed a quantity fully equal to two-thirds the substance of a cigaret.

Very much less than this will impair the hearing and even destroy it for the time. Let the doctor look into your ears and see what is there.

I have spoken of middle ear trouble and of external ear deafness. There is a third form of deafness—internal ear deafness.

The nerve of hearing is called the "auditory nerve." It ends in delicate fibres which float in a fluid found in the cavities of the bone, prepared for this use.

Anything that causes unusual drain upon the nerve energy may reduce the hearing power. Ill health, chronic indigestion, the wrong diet, habitual loss of rest and sleep, the neglect of sunshine and exercise—anything, indeed, that lowers the vitality may have its effect upon the nerve of hearing.

If you have buzzing or singing in the ears or, for that matter, any variety of "head noises," have the ears examined. If you have obstinate nasal catarrh, dropping into the throat, coughing in the morning or other similar symptoms, it is time to have the advice of the doctor.

Early attention to these symptoms which precede deafness is vitally important to you. Your hearing is too necessary a part of your life to be neglected in the least.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Formal and Informal

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me if it is poor form to write a short note on the back of an engraved Christmas card which is being sent to a friend with whom we do not correspond often?

E. J.

WELL, I suppose that strictly speaking we could not say that it is correct to combine this informal kind of note with the formality of an engraved Christmas card. But when I consider how delighted I am to have this friendly addition to the Christmas cards sent me by so many friends from whom we have not heard during the year, I haven't the heart to say it isn't correct! Nowadays life's tempo is so rushed that we just don't get time to write to all the people we want to and so, when we send the genial yearly greeting, it is a temptation to add just a little more to the formal greeting on the front of the card. And I doubt if there are people such sticklers for form that they will forego the pleasure of the note from the friend just to be correct.

As a matter of fact, this is one of the reasons why I admire people who send short notes of Christmas greeting instead of formal cards. Just a few words in the handwriting of a friend is so much more precious than a frigid engraving. I wish that more people would consider doing this.

Meditations of a Wife

—By HELEN ROWLAND—

The Charm of the Business Girl

WOMAN has lost none of her charm by engaging in the various professions and activities of business, admits the German Ambassador to the United States.

Almost any normal wife, who views with alarm the galaxy of beauty in her husband's office, could have told him that!

* * *

Once it was believed that if women went into the business world, they would soon become hard-eyed, hard-voiced, hard-boiled hybrids. But NOW look at the dear things!

HELEN ROWLAND

They can carry a brief-case in one hand and a vanity-case in the other with perfect ease and nonchalance. They can carry the secrets of a whole office system inside their heads, and a permanent wave on the outside, without blinking an eyelash! They can run a beauty shop or a tea-room with one hand, and powder their noses with the other!

But—shush! Business life has CHANGED a woman's charm. It has robbed her of nearly all her old charms, but it has given her twice as many new charms in their place.

* * *

It has robbed her of that appealing "helplessness" and pretty shyness which used to thrill a man with a sense of chivalry and tenderness.

* * *

But it has given her a clear-eyed self-confidence, which has reduced her inferiority complex to a minimum and given her poise and manner instead of awkwardness.

It has inspired her to cut off her trailing skirts and ruffles and her long hair; but it has also inspired her with a passion for neatness, cleanliness and good grooming.

* * *

It has taken away some of her frills and fluffiness, but it has also relieved her of all such hideous atrocities as busties, corsets, hair-rats and billowing hips.

* * *

It has robbed her of some of her illusions about men—but in their place, it has given her an understanding of the genus homo, while makes her more interesting and companionable.

* * *

To a girl who works in a business office from nine to five, no man is a fascinating mystery or a Great Big Hero. She has seen too many of them in petty moods and mental deshabille.

But she has learned to speak a man's language, to be generous to his faults, to play his game, and to talk to him about something that really interests him.

* * *

In short, she has exchanged all the "charms" of a cute little plaything, for the far more vital and alluring charms of a real COMPANION!

Horoscope

Saturday, December 15

WITH Venus, the brilliant orb of Love and Beauty, in regal dominance on this day, the affairs of heart and home are likely to engage the attention and actuate the activities. Social, domestic, artistic and affectional interests are uppermost, with the more sordid operations for the day stressing the things of feminine character or catering to amusements, pleasure and kindred lines. It is probable that there may be a sudden and beneficial change or journey, but withal there is little to be expected in finances but extravagance, outlay or risk.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which the personal affairs rather than business progress may engage their attention, unless the business be centered around feminine interests, art, amusement or pleasure. There is forecast of a change or journey of benefit, but generally the finances are not favored and risk extravagant outlay or expenditure on pleasure are shown.

A child born on this day may be popular, accomplished and skill in the arts and social graces.

Two of the fairest stars in all the heaven, having some business, do entreat her eyes to twinkle in their spheres till they return.—Shakespeare.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl -:- Story by Lloyd Mayer -:- By John Held, Jr.

"My dear, I'm ALL-of-a-bib-and-TUCKer, no less! I mean I'm comPLETEly baffled and nonPLUSSED at this point because the LAST couple of DAYS, ever since BULL was here that night, my dear, PUPsy-wups hasn't been himSELF at ALL, because I mean he's been PANTing like a plush HORSE and I'm simply TERRified he'll run aWAY again or something the way he did th' other DAY, my dear, when I had to MADly telephone BULL about the situation, do you know what I mean? Well, ANYways, my dear, it's POSitively weird because when BULL brought him BACK that time, it was too CRYPtic, because I mean PUPsy-wups CAREfully deposited this cute pink BOW effect in the MEM'ry book—can you COPE with it? I mean I'm TOO inCENSED because I'm ABsolutely conVINCED BULL knows something about the odd business but I'm so mad I could SPIT because he won't tell me a THING, the big oaf! So in FRANtic desperAtion, my dear, I confided in ARab but he's comPLETEly BAFfled and absolutely NO HELP in SOLVing this CRYPtic eNIGma effect as to WHY PUPsy-wups is all hot and bothered at this point, but I mean I'm conVINCED there's SOMEthing AWfully aGOG and I'm TOO upSET because I mean I'm perfectly PETrified at the thought of ANYthing happening to PUPsy-wups, my dear—I mean I ACtually AM!"

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON SOCIETY

New Dates For Debbie Affairs

FEW members of the younger set would mourn a bit if, because of the influenza epidemic, every school and college in the land were closed until mid-January, but if the many gay social activities planned for the Yuletide season were cancelled for the same reason, there would be much lamentation throughout the country.

A few entertainments for buds have been postponed because of illness, to be sure, but for just a week or so.

You know, of course, that the Allison Maxwells had to postpone the dinner dance they had planned for Tuesday in honor of Louise Latimer Reed, daughter of the W. Edgar Reeds, because of the debutante's illness.

THERE was some fear that Louise might not be well enough to make her bow at a tea her mother had planned for tomorrow afternoon in her home. Louise has recovered by now, however, and will be presented tomorrow.

AND the Allison Maxwells will give a dinner for Louise on the evening of January 5 in the Pittsburgh Country Club. The guests will take part in the Saturday night club dance after the dinner.

THOUGH most of the buds have made their bows, a few debutantes have not yet been formally presented. Rhoda Gamble, daughter of the William K. Gambles, of Oakmont, will "come out" on Thursday afternoon at a tea dance her mother will give in the University Club. Originally the debut date was set for Saturday, December 22, but had to be changed because of conflicting events.

Speaking of Rhoda, I'm reminded that Mrs. James Kelso Boyd will give a luncheon for her on Tuesday in the Hotel Schenley. Debutantes will be the guests, I understand.

And a New Year's party is being planned for her, too. Mrs. M. Baird Young will give a dinner party in the Duquesne Club in her honor on New Year's night. And after the dinner Mrs. Young will entertain her guests at the Nixon Theater.

AND still another debutante party planned for the holidays is the dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arbuthnot, Jr., of Fifth avenue, will give for their niece, Bettie Berger Dunlap. The affair will be held on Saturday evening, December 29, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

* * *

A BIT of news in which I am sure you will be interested concerns Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., daughter of the William Larimer Mellons, and Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., of New York. They took out a license to marry yesterday, and I understand that they are to be married this month in the Hotel Plaza, New York. Mrs. Laughlin and her parents are in the East just now and are expected home next week.

* * *

THE Tom M. Girdlers and the Henry Bughmans, of Sewickley, have gone to New York, and will be at the Ambassador Hotel for a few days. They will visit Toronto before they return home next week.

Last evening the Girdlers gave a dinner and theater party in New York, I've learned.

NEW YORK is attracting many a Pittsburgher in these days preceding Christmas. Mrs. George W. Lawson, of Woodland road, has been there, I hear.

* * *

MRS. JAMES BARLOW CULLUM and her daughter, Mollie, who came out in New York this winter, are not expected home until the end of next week, did you know?

THE most important pre-holiday affair at the Arnold School is the benefit dance to be held tonight in the school. The affair is given under the auspices of the football squad and the proceeds will go to the athletic contingency fund.

* * *

MRS. M. B. REGAN and Mrs. George Mehlich will be hostesses for the card party to be held Monday night in St. Bede's School Hall, Edgerton street and Dallas avenue. Bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

* * *

THE A. B. C. Club will hold a Christmas dance December 26 in the Highland Country Club in honor of the Bellevue Chapter. George L. Baxley is chairman, assisted by William Brunner, George Hoagland, John Shoub, Craig Chambers, Hugh H. Woods, Jr., and John Thellman.

PENNSYLVANIA COURT, No. 1, Order of the Amaranth, will hold a card party tomorrow afternoon in Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium, with the newly-installed officers in charge. Mrs. Dollie W. Goodwin is royal matron.

JAMES DODSON is chairman for the New Year's ball of the Pittsburgh Club of Notre Dame, to be held January 1 in the Pittsburgh Field Club. Phillips Walsh is in charge of music; Thomas Murphy, favors; Richard O'Toole, patrons; William Magarrall, tickets; David Nash, publicity, and H. M. Vezie, reception. On the alumni committee are A. Diebold, Fritz Wilson, Charles Mienert, Jack Barr, Jack Sheedy and James Devlin.

MISS MARJORIE CATHERINE STEWART, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Stewart, of Beechwood boulevard, will arrive home December 21 from the National Cathedral School, Washington, D. C.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE CRYTZER, of Vassar street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Crytzer, and Charles Earnest, of Kelly street, which was solemnized last Saturday in the parsonage of the Lemington Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church by the Rev. C. E. McCandless.

20th Century Club Gives Child Party

ABOUT 70 of the future debutantes and cotillion leaders of Pittsburgh society were guests of the Twentieth Century Club yesterday afternoon at the first children's party the club has had in many years. Mrs. Jacob Simpson Payton and her committee had charge of the affair and provided a program that was hugely enjoyed, not only by the little folk, but, for its artistry and charm, by their elders as well.

Mrs. Edward O. Tabor, in three different costumes, had the co-operation of the children in addition to their rapt attention, for, with her, they sang French songs, played games, danced and did bits of dramatization in the story she told so delightfully—the story of the dreadful thing that might have happened to Santa Claus. Mrs. Tabor meets children on their own ground, as it were; understands thoroughly their reactions and handles such an audience with surprising ease. Little Miriam Staley gave an exhibition of tap and acrobatic dancing that was also enjoyed.

And, of course, since no party is complete without them, there were ice cream and cookies. Two symmetrical evergreens, decorated in silver, set the scene for the affair and additional Yule touches were given the auditorium in the green and red candles and in the ferns and Christmas blooms that adorned the window ledges.

MRS. E. E. CAMPBELL, vice president of Irving College; Miss Josephine Campbell, registrar, and Miss Jane Campbell, a senior at Irving College, together with Irving students of Western Pennsylvania, will be guests at the Christmas luncheon of the Pittsburgh Irving College Club in the Conaress clubhouse, Saturday, December 22.

Miss Marjorie Good, president of the college Y. W. C. A., in charge of the program, will present Lillian Barron, pianist, and Charlotte Schollenberger, soprano.

Miss Alice Duff, social chairman, is in charge of luncheon arrangements, and is being assisted by Mrs. Arthur C. Weber, Ingomar; Mrs. D. B. Blackham, Blawnox; Mrs. P. H. Bridenbaugh, New Castle, and Mrs. C. Wehn, Beaver.

The past presidents of the club, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, Mrs. C. A. Brooks, Mrs. C. W. Kenney, Mrs. F. L. Schomberg, Mrs. Howard E. Reed, Miss Nell Goehring, and Mrs. D. F. Harrison, will receive with the president, Mrs. George A. Eckels and her officers, Mrs. Philip C. Rinehart, Miss Pearl Walters and Miss Margaret Eberle.

ELMER KENYON, president of the Pittsburgh Drama League, addressing the Wilkinsburg Civic Club at its meeting in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel yesterday, discussed the plays of the year. Mrs. Bertha Gross King gave several Christmas readings and led assembly singing. Mrs. E. K. Read directed the program and Mrs. Harry Walker made the invocation. The next meeting of the club, on January 10, will be a reception for new members.

* * *

MRS. ANNA MARSHALL M'CRACKEN presented "Christmas in Picture, Song and Story," at yesterday's meeting of the Aspinwall Woman's Club. Mrs. I. F. Heidler and Mrs. J. W. Munsell furnishing the "song." Mrs. McCracken reading the Scriptures for the "story," while she showed slides of famous paintings illustrative of the passages. Mrs. J. B. Henry was program chairman and accompanied the singers.

* * *

PITTSBURGH CHAPTER of Alpha Xi Delta will hold its philanthropic meeting and annual Christmas party at the Congress of Clubs tomorrow. Mrs. Bruce Bargman is chairman. Contributions of toys will be made to the Goodwill Industries.

THE senior scout dinner of the older Girl Scouts of Allegheny County will be held in the Congress of Clubs this evening. The Scouts themselves have planned the program and decorations. Stunts are to be given by Troop 118 of the Third Presbyterian Church and some members of the camp staff. The Christmas pie is being made by the Scouts of Troop 115, Rodef Shalom Synagogue. Troop 146, of Edgewood, and the Scouts of the South Side Community House have made the favors, and Troop 4, Homestead, Troop 16, Brookline, Troop 79, Emsworth, and Troop 121, Bellevue, have designed and made the place cards. The speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Charles Elmers, of Sarah Heinz House, who will talk on "Community Service." The general arrangements for the affair are in the hands of Miss Helen K. Benedict, of headquarters staff.

A MEETING of the Chatham Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the school Thursday evening of next week. The pupils, under the direction of Miss Mary Power, will present three scenes from Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

THE proceeds of the Junior Hadassah cabaret dance on December 26 will aid the Pittsburgh unit in meeting its quota for the maintenance of village schools and the nurses' training schools in Palestine. The dance will be held in Webster Hall.

Model Ten-thirty-five. Automatic Orthophonic Victrola. Plays a continuous program while you remain seated in your chair. Magazine holds 12 records at one time. Natural, lifelike reproduction through Orthophonic tone-chamber. Beautifully designed cabinet. List price, $365.

THERE is someone on your Christmas list who you feel is entitled to rather special consideration. The usual things will never do. It isn't a question of spending a lot of money, but rather one of selecting the gift that is essentially "right" from every point-of-view. A new Victrola in one of its many forms . . . isn't this the answer?

You can spend twenty-five dollars on up to well over a thousand. That's a detail. The important thing is this: No other gift can give more genuine pleasure, more joy-filled hours through a lifetime, than one of these great entertainers. To avoid disappointment at Christmas time, make your selection (and reservation!) at once. There isn't a day to lose.

9:00 P. M.—Evening in Paris.

"The Jockey," in the Montparnasse section of Paris, will be the locale for the program.

This section, in which is located the Latin Quarter, is entering into strong competition with the more thoroughly established Montmartre Quarter as the home of fascinating modern night clubs. One of these is "The Jockey." Like many of the restaurants and cabarets in Montparnasse, known as the melting pot of Paris, "The Jockey" gives a French night club entertainment strongly flavored with foreign melodies—in this case the songs of Cuba and Latin America.

Following the pattern of the entertainment given in this place in Paris, the entertainment will be strongly international in flavor, presenting French, Spanish and American music, featuring "La Paloma" by a mixed quartet, and a soprano solo, "En Cuba," by Irma de Baun, the "Peaches" of the "Evening in Paris" hour.

9:30 P. M.—Rapid Transit.
10:00 P. M.—Concert Bureau. Artists to be heard at this time include Leslie Frick, contralto; Astrid Fjelde, soprano; Kathleen Stewart, pianist; Georgia Price, harpist; the Ballad Singers and the National Concert Orchestra.

WON'T LET WIFE GET DIVORCE, SAYS BEERY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—(INS.)—"I will never allow my wife to divorce me if I can prevent it. I will spend every cent I have and will devote the rest of my life to keeping her my wife."

That's the way Noah Beery, screen "heavy," felt today about the divorce suit that his wife has just filed, charging him with choking her, threatening her with a gun, insulting her and making derogatory remarks about her.

"All her charges except the one in which she says I talked nasty to her are false," he declared. "But I do not hold anything against her. She just doesn't realize what she is doing, and I am not going to let her do it if I can help it."

But as for Mrs. Beery, she declared:

"I have stood terrible things for two years and will stand them no longer. I am going through with this divorce. I hate publicity and hope it will not harm Noah—but we cannot go on as we have for the past two years."

Beery sleeps in a little cabin in the rear of his wife's home.

"I want to be near to protect her," he said. "I still love her."

Script of Gospels Defies Ravages Of 1,000 Years

Man Shot as Woman Fights to Save Dog

A bullet wound in his head, Raymond Parker, 25, Negro, of 9 Formosa way, Homewood, is near death in the Pittsburgh Hospital. Parker told police he had been accidentally shot by Mary Nichols, 18, Negro, in their home last night.

Parker intended to shoot a sick dog, he said, and the Nichols woman protested. She was reaching for the gun when it went off accidentally, police say the victim told them. The Nichols woman was arrested.

Gossip About Art of Theater and Those Who Demonstrate It

ACTRESS WELL KNOWN HERE COMING TO SCENE OF LOCAL STOCK DEBUT

WHEN "The Trial of Mary Dugan" comes to the Pitt Christmas week local audiences will see in its star, Ann Harding, a young mother who likely has a warm place in her heart for Pittsburgh, since it was here that her baby was born last summer. Miss Harding was associated with the Nixon Players, in which her husband, Harry Bannister, was leading man. She had been connected with "The Trial of Mary Dugan" during its long New York run the previous season, coming here to be with her husband. Miss Harding was the first leading woman with the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, in the summer of 1927, so she will tread familiar boards when she returns.

A Belasco production, "The Bachelor Father," with the original New York cast, which has been in Boston these last several weeks, comes to the Nixon for one week only, opening Monday night, December 17. June Walker, featured with C. Aubrey Smith and Geoffrey Kerr, has a bright, saucy role as "Tony" Flagg.

Old Comedy Now Musical

ALEXANDER MOISSI, one of Europe's foremost actors, comes to the Pitt for a one-week engagement, opening next Monday night, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. Moissi is appearing in Max Reinhardt's production of Tolstoy's "Redemption" ("Der Lebende Leichnam") and his appearance in the Pitt promises to be one of the dramatic events of the season.

Arthur Hammerstein's musical comedy, "Polly," comes to the Alvin for the week of December 17, before its Broadway hearing, is a musicalization of David Belasco's "Polly With a Past." Its producer looks for it to hold as high a place in the theatrical history as that famous comedy did. June, London musical comedy star, and Harry K. Morton will have the principal roles.

Morris Gest, noted producer, will attend Alexander Moissi's opening performance Monday night in the Pitt, it is announced.

Actor Feels Long Acquainted

ALTHOUGH it was not until five seasons ago that C. Aubrey Smith, who is featured in David Belasco's production of "The Bachelor Father," the new comedy by Edward Childs Carpenter, which comes to Pittsburgh Monday night, December 17, made his first appearance for Mr. Belasco in the latter's presentation of "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," he felt in a way that he was associated with this producer long before that time. This was due to the fact that two of the most pronounced hits of this English actor were scored in London productions of two of Mr. Belasco's great successes. "Years of Discretion" and "Polly With a Past."

When June makes her bow in the Alvin Monday night, December 17 in "Polly" the event will be the consummation of a four-year attempt on the part of Arthur Hammerstein to induce June to forsake the theaters of the continent and to come to America. Mr. Hammerstein first saw June when she was playing in "Little Nellie Kelly" in London. He then tried to sign her to a contract for America, but was unsuccessful. Later he tried again, but she could not be persuaded to visit America. Last summer he made another effort after seeing her in a revue and this time he was successful.

Maria Olszewska Sings Here Tonight

The Polish singer, Maria Olszewska, of the Vienna State Opera, will sing the following program as the third number of the Bortz Concerts in Carnegie Music Hall this evening:

Von ewiger Leibe, Auf dem Kirchkof, Standchen, Die Mainacht, Brahms; Life and Death, S. Coleridge-Taylor; Lullaby, Cyril Scott; If There Were Dreams to Sell, John Ireland; The Early Morning, Graham Peel; Ombra mai fu, Handel; Traume, Schmerzen, Wagner; Ruhe meine Seele, Schiagende Herzen, Gefunden, Mein Vater hat Gesagt, Strauss.

"FROM BROADWAY TO HEAVEN" TITLE GIVEN TO FILM OF GUS EDWARDS REVUE

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.

WHENEVER the New Yorkers-in-Hollywood Club gets together it seems to put in a plug for Broadway one way or another. In any event, following "Broadway Melody" the New York crowd at Metro is planning to film a Gus Edwards revue titled "From Broadway to Heaven." Some of the boys objected saying that the two places are the same. But the combination was termed unbeatable for attractiveness at the box office. So the title stands.

Charles King, comedy star with a wonderful voice, has the leading role. There are to be a lot of brand new songs, a number of specialty dances, a ballet and all the trimmings of a regular revue. The picture is called a "Color and Tune" revue, which means that beside sound and dialog it is to be photographed in natural colors. Among the specialty numbers are included the only pair of Chinese girl twins to appear in pictures, Bo Ling and Bo Ching—if you want their names. The revue goes into production next week.

Dix Will Star; Collier Direct

WHEN Sam Goldwyn bought "Bulldog Drummond" for Ronald Colman, instead of letting Paramount have the screen rights for a Richard Dix picture, our "Rich" was left high and dry in New York with no film to make. Not that he objected to a Broadway vacation, of course. Now they have decided to star Dix in a talker version of William Collier's stage farce, "Nothing But the Truth." "Buster Collier's pa has been engaged to supervise the production, and so Dix will have the advantage of tips from the great comedian who created his role. The filming of the picture in New York provide Ned Sparkes a chance to get a breath of Broadway after a long stay in Hollywood. Ned is one of the fuiest "Dead Pan" players in existence, beside being a ringer for Mayor Jimmy Walker—in case hizzoner ever wants a double. Ned has a big part in "Nothing But the Truth."

Eva Von Berne, who was shipped back to the old country for no apparent reason, got a lucky break immediately upon her arrival home. Eva has been signed to star in a German-made picture at a salary and a 10 per cent royalty arrangement. Hope her luck has changed.

YOUR SUNDAY DINNER

By PRUDENCE PENNY

Chopped Steak with Olive Sauce.
Scalloped Egg Plant.
Squash Cakes. Persimmon Salad.
Black Walnut Cake.
Coffee.

HAVE you ever tried chopped steak with olive sauce? It makes a marvelous entree. Get a pound of round steak chopped. Now cook a cup of soft breadcrumbs until they ares lightly brown and crisp in the butter or meat drippings—use ¼ cup of butter or savory drippings—and then add them, with an eighth teaspoon of pepper and ¾ teaspoon of salt, to the chopped steak.

Form in flat cakes, dip in flour, put in a hot frying pan containing a little fat and cook over a moderate high heat for seven or eighth minutes. Turn once or twice to brown evenly. Be careful not to allow the cakes to burn. Remove to a hot dish to keep warm while the sauce is being made.

Melt two level teaspoons of butter in the pan in which the meat was cooked, add a teaspoon of chopped onion and cook for three or four minutes. Stir in three level teaspoons of flour and add one and one-half cups of brown stock gradually. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Add a cup of green olives which have been soaked for 30 minutes. Then add a teaspoon of lemon juice and a speck of cayenne. I cautioned you to soak the olives, because they would prove too salty otherwise.

SQUASH cakes are delicious, and everybody always likes them. To a solidly packed cup of cooked winter squash, add a half cup of flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and mix thoroughly; then add one well beaten egg. Shape in flat cakes, dip in flour, using moderate heat, fry in hot fat until brown and crisp on both sides.

Choose very ripe persimmons for the salad—otherwise, your mouth may find itself puckering unpleasantly! Persimmons should be very soft and somewhat transparent. Remove the flat green leaves, and wipe with a damp cloth. Cut in halves, then in quarters, and take out the pithy section. Remove the skin, or not, as you please. Place several quarters of persimmon on crisp lettuce, and serve with two tablespoons of lemon juice, three tablespoons olive oil, one-half teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon paprika thoroughly mixed.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS—Two cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter or lard, 1 teaspoon Blue Ribbon malt extract (plain), 1 cup milk. Sift the dry ingredients together. Mix the Blue Ribbon malt extract and melted butter with the milk. Blend with a fork carefully. Mix with the dry ingredients to make a soft dough, using a spoon or knife. Toss on a floured board and roll out to one inch thickness. Cut with a biscuit cutter. Bake in a quick over at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes.

YOUR BREAKFAST

TO my way of thinking, breakfast is about the most important meal of the day. And, sad to say, the least considered. The prospect of snatching an extra few moments of sleep seems so much more alluring than getting up in time for breakfast.

But going out in the morning without proper breakfast means that the morning's efficiency will be sadly impaired. The body requires fuel if it is to do its daily work. No machine, either mechanical or human, can function without fuel.

Coffee and toast seem to be the perennial standby for the American breakfast. And yet it is so easy to prepare a really good, substantial breakfast. Fruit, for instance, can be put in the ice box the night before, and be ready in a jiffy in the morning. Oatmeal, or any other cereal which the family may prefer, can be cooked the previous night.

STUFFED peppers are just delicious, and here is a recipe for them. Cover about eight green peppers with cold water, after first removing the stems and the seeds. Bring them to the boiling point, and cook for five minutes. Then drain and fill with this mixture, which has been thoroughly blended; three cups of boiled rice, two cups canned tomatoes, one cup chopped celery, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon paprika. Place peppers close together in a baking dish, pour in a cupful of water and sprinkle with one-quarter cup of grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A NEAT PLAY GARMENT FOR A YOUNG CHILD.

Comfort and convenience is expressed in this little model. The inner seam is finished for an adjustable closing. A group of lengthwise tucks trims the center of the front, and tucks are also shown at the center of the back. The fullness at the leg edges is gathered to bands. The short sleeve in puff effect is finished in the same way. A narrow belt confines the fullness at the waistline. Cotton prints, linen or pongee are excellent materials for a garment of this kind.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 6 months, 1 and 2 years. To make this model for a 1-year size will require 1¼ yards of 27-inch material together with ¼ yard of contrasting material for facing sleeve bands, leg bands and belt.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Our Daily Short Story
THE KILL-JOY
By EMILY BURTON

WHEN Fay Worth and Breck Laird were married their friends said: "Fay will be the making of Breck. He needs a girl like that to steady him."

Fay was the only daughter of a wealthy and aristocratic family. Breck came from a farm in the hill country with nothing to recommend him except a husky physique and winning personality. Fay was the sweetest, best-behaved and most studious co-ed in the little college town. Breck was a football star of two seasons and the idol of the campus.

Fay loved Breck Laird with all her heart and soul. Breck loved Fay, too. She represented everything that he wanted and didn't have, and he took her for his own.

After the wedding the Worths combined their efforts and influence to secure Fay's husband a good position; and in a few weeks the young Lairds went to Nashville, where Breck's business career awaited him.

He worked hard and lived simply for a long time. Then he began making new friends and accepting their invitations. Fay accompanied him usually, though she went rather grudgingly to the parties these new friends gave. They were not the sort of people she liked, and she said so.

In a short time Breck began drinking too much, gambling too much and wasting too much of his time. Fay pleaded with him, reproached him, wept on his shoulder, lectured him. All in vain.

"You are just a kill-joy," he told her once in a moment of anger. "You object to everything I want to do. When you go out with my friends you wet-blanket the whole crowd."

It was the very next day after that quarrel that Fay heard a surprising conversation at a bridge party.

"No woman ever influenced a man by pleading or arguments," said a wise young wife. "It is human nature to balk at anything that your home-folks insist upon."

"Suppose your husband persisted in doing something that worried you and injured him, what would you do?" asked a prim little woman across the table.

"I'd probably pitch in and go him one better at his own game," was the answer. "Far be it from me to represent an obstacle in anybody's pathway."

"Obstacle!" That word struck Fay full in the face. That was perhaps how Breck regarded her.

As soon as she reached home she rushed to the telephone and called her husband.

"The Markells are stepping out tonight. They want us to go with them. Would you like to go?"

"The Markells!" His tone expressed astonishment. "Why, yes, I'd like to go. But I thought you had blacklisted the Markells."

"Oh, well. Maybe I was mistaken," she replied pleasantly. "Hurry home and let's dress up."

Breck stopped in the doorway and stared at his wife when he walked in that evening.

"Why, Fay, what have you done to your hair?" he cried.

She laughed. She knew her head was an astounding sight. Gone were the carefully set waves. Gone was the drab sandy hue. A golden sheen added luster to her blonde locks. A fluffy mass of curls formed a devilish sort of halo around her patrician face.

"You ought to see my new dress," she exclaimed, "it's a knockout."

When she donned the extreme and daring costume, he gasped again. After they joined the Markells, Mrs. Laird was the life of the party. She laughed at all the risque jokes; she smoked incessantly; she danced every time she was asked; she talked louder than he had ever before heard her speak; she took a drink every time one was offered her. Though to tell the truth she poured most of them on the floor.

That was the beginning of the reform movement in the Laird's home.

"What on earth has come over you Fay?" Breck demanded on the morning after a wild New Year's celebration. "I was really embarrassed over your conduct last night and your everlasting talk about 'making whoopee' is getting on my nerves."

Fay was too wise to lay her cards on the table at that stage of the game. She hated it, but she played her role until Breck delivered his ultimatum.

"Where are we going tonight?" she asked gayly toward the end of another festive week.

"We're going to bed, that's where we're going," roared her outraged husband. "I'm sick and tired of those liquor heads and I'm fed up on this darned hilarity. How do you expect me to get anywhere in business at this rate?"

"Well, Breck, you know I live you, darling," she answered with a childish pout, "and if you feel that way about my good times, I'll try to do what you think best."

So Fay reformed.

But Breck is still a little bit uneasy about her backsliding. So he makes sure that temptations are kept out of her way.

Scarcity of Catchers Can't Replace Schalk Klem Likely to Stay

Baseball by Japanese Youngest Come-Back Shevlin's Yale Trials

NO CHANCE FOR TRADE OF UMPIRES

GOOD catching talent continues to be about the scarcest article in baseball. A condition not far removed from an actual famine in that direction has existed for several years, and present indications do not give promise of any early relief.

Ray Schalk

You hear a great deal about how difficult it is for major league clubs to dig up capable pitchers, or infielders or outfielders who can hit well enough to hold down jobs in the big show, but any scout will tell you that the toughest job of all is to find young men who combine all the qualities that enter into the making of first-class backstops.

There are plenty of boys in the sticks who can catch and throw. But that's mere mechanical stuff. They are only receivers; nothing more. A real "catcher," in the true sense of the word, is one able not only to receive and peg, but one who is quick, fast and peppery, capable of steadying twirlers and handling them properly under varying conditions, and possessing gray matter and intuition that will enable him to guess out what the enemy plans to do and break it up, cross up the foe at every opportunity, and in general to be the boss of the ball game that is being played in front of him.

CATCHING prospects of that kind are not found growing on every bush. As a matter of fact, it appears to be harder to discover a catcher of real worth than it is to find a satisfactory manager for a big league team. At least, that is the experience of the Chicago American League club, which has found it much easier to get a new pilot in Ray Schalk's stead than to fill the place he occupied since 1912 as a catcher.

When Schalk, who has signed with the Giants as a coach for next year, was dropped as skipper of the White Sox before the close of the 1928 season, Russell (Lena) Blackburne was appointed to succeed him. The team showed improvement during the remainder of the race, and evidently Blackburne's managerial showing was satisfactory to President Charley Comiskey, as Lena has been retained as field leader in 1929.

BUT though he has been more successful than Schalk as a manager, Blackburne has almost despaired of finding any one capable of filling Ray's shoes as a backstop. He declares he has hunted high and low, through the big leagues and minors, as well, without succeeding in getting the kind of man he wants.

George Moriarty.

"What I want first is a catcher," Blackburne said. "Next to that I need an infielder, and then a pitcher, but a catcher I must have above all, though I must confess that finding one is the toughest job I ever tackled. I am beginning to fear that we'll have to struggle along with what we've got. Good young catchers seem not to exist. If they do exist, it is impossible to pry them away from the clubs that own them."

GEORGE MORIARTY'S reappointment on the American League staff of umpires after spending two years as manager of the Detroit club, kills a hope that had been entertained by fans in Pittsburgh and elsewhere that the National League might land him for next year. This hope was born of a suggestion made after the first rumors of Bill Klem's resignation were circulated that it might be possible to arrange with the American League for the exchanging of Klem for Moriarty. Klem was said to have his heart set on going to the American loop, and the transfer of such a capable official as Moriarty to take his place would have been welcomed around the senior circuit.

THAT seems to be out of the question now, however, as the action of President E. H. Barnard yesterday in reappointing Moriarty indicates that the American League intends to keep George in its own service as an arbiter for the next flag race.

Inasmuch as the National League did not close the Klem case by accepting Bill's resignation, but left the matter open by referring it to President John A. Heydler with instructions to use his own judgment, it will not be surprising if Heydler prevails upon Klem to reconsider his proposed withdrawal and reappear in 1929 on the job that he has held for a quarter of a century.

SPEAKING of umpires, Ernest Quigley, of the National League staff, who has been handling a big intercollegiate championship series

McCURRY MADE DEFENDER; BUCS START TRIP

By CARL W. SHATTO.

MANAGER ODIE CLEGHORN and his Pirate skaters left this morning for Ottawa and their battle with the Senators in the Canadian city tomorrow night. Although there were no new faces in the departing Pirate party, Cleghorn was armed with a new defense man in the person of Duke McCurry, a forward in past battles, but a defender from now on.

Pilot Odie "made over" the Iron Duke during the drills of this week. As a wing, McCurry was almost a total loss, but as a defense man Cleghorn expects him to be a big asset to the club. Although Duke is not particularly hefty, weighing only about 155 pounds, he knows how to hit 'em hard, according to Cleghorn, and he has fair speed and shiftiness.

BELOW PAR AS WING

As a wing, McCurry was below par both in skating and stick handling, but his most severe critic never accused him of not giving his best. He always has been one of the hardest workers on the squad, and he probably will be willing to absorb plenty of punishment at a defense post if he can hand a foeman a wallop now and then.

The making over of McCurry, however, was only a small fraction of the work performed by the Pirates' manager this week. Hard workouts have been held at Duquesne Garden each day, and the forwards were driven hard in an effort to increase their scoring punch. Combination plays were rehearsed and then rehearsed again, and if there is no increase in the Pittsburgh goal production it will not be because of any lack of practice.

FAILS TO SIGN STAR

Efforts of Pirate officials to sign new talent still are fruitless. Before his departure, Cleghorn revealed that he had been dickering with the Kitchener Club of the Canadian League in an effort to buy Miller, youthful 180-pound center. Kitchener's present prosperity blocked the deal, however, for it is in second place and is not willing to give up its star when a Kitchener title looms as a probability.

Although five Ottawa regulars are suffering from light attacks of flu, they were able to play in Detroit last night, and probably will be in the lineup against the Bucs tomorrow. The Senators' lineup is the same at last season, which is another way of saying that the Pirates are not the favorites.

From Ottawa, the Pirates will go to New York to meet the Americans on Tuesday, and on Thursday the Bucs and Americans will come here for a second battle on Duquesne Garden ice.

RANGERS, AMERICANS WIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The New York Rangers have shown Montreal hockey fans that, perhaps, their victory over the Maroons in the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring was not a fluke, but it took a long battle to do it. The Rangers made their second appearance of the year in Montreal and pulled an overtime battle with the Canadiens out of the fire by a 2-to-2 count. On their first visit to Montreal they lost to the Maroons.

In New York the Americans did their share in the Montreal-New York rivalry by pushing the Maroons out of first place in the International group of the National Hockey League with a 2-to-1 victory. The New York contest was almost as great a thriller as the one in Montreal, although it ended in the regular time and without an earned score for the Maroons. Leo Reise presented the Maroons with their counter by making a too-hurried sweep at a puck lying directly in front of his goal and knocked it into the net.

Detroit and Ottawa staged a tough battle that failed to get either team anywhere in the standings, ending in a tie at one-all. The players displayed plenty of enthusiasm in their checking and 13 penalties were called during the game.

BROWN RETAINS M'LAUGHRY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Tuss McLaughry will coach Brown football for the next three years.

Announcement was made at the annual football dinner of the Providence Brown Club, after indignation of the football squad over the award of only 11 letters to the first string players threatened to upset the plans for the dinner, at a conference of Coach McLaughry and Capt. Al Cornsweet, a truce was arranged and the players agreed to attend the dinner.

CEDER TO BOX DE MARCO ON CHRISTMAS

Cuddy DeMarco and Rudy Ceder have been matched to box the main bout of the Christmas afternoon matinee in Motor Square Garden.

Signing of the bout yesterday means that Andy Martin, the clever Boston featherweight, who recently decisively defeated Johnny Datto, the Filipino, in the same ring, will not appear on the card on Santa Claus' day. However, he probably will be seen in action in the same ring on New Year's Day.

DeMarco also boxes Jack Zivic, his keen local rival, in the feature bout of the Christmas fund show in the Garden next Monday night. He has canceled a match with Jack McCarthy in Chicago to go through with this engagement.

The meeting between DeMarco and Ceder will bring together two directly opposite types of ringmen. DeMarco is a clever boxer, while Ceder is a hard-punching slugger. Such a combination generally produces a good fight, and the prospect of a knockout finish intrigues the imagination of the fans.

Local amateur boxers will engage in an inter-city show with Cleveland mitt-wielders at the Cleveland A. C. tonight.

Lew Kersch meets Tommy Grogan and Bruce Flowers boxes Jimmy Goodrich in 10-round preliminaries to the Al Singer-Tony Canzoneri bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Vince Dundee, brother of Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion, boxes Canada Lee in a 10-round bout in New York tomorrow night.

AMATEUR BOUTS TONIGHT

Nine bouts that promise plenty of action have been arranged for the show to be held under the auspices of the Homewood-Brushton Baseball Boosters' Association in the Penn armory, East End, tonight, to raise funds for the Homewood-Brushton club of the County League. The card follows:

135-pound class—William Zurick, unattached, vs. Mike Popric, Duke O'Hara Club of McKeesport; Sharkey Lesko, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. Skip Lehr, North Side A. C.; 112-pound class, George Durso, Hazelwood, vs. S. Loiges, Duke O'Hara Club; 160-pound class O. J. Cook, Canonsburg, vs. George Chambers, Willow Club; 115-pound class, George Lesko, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. Freddie Smith, Carnegie; 126-pound class, Ben Sufferin, unattached, vs. Pat Powers, Lawrenceville; Red Hartley, North Side, vs. Fred Bolden, Superior A.

PIRATES SELL PETE SCOTT

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Floyd (Pete) Scott, outfielder, was sold by the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Freddie Hofmann, catcher, was sold by the Boston Red Sox for cash to the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League yesterday.

It appears the much-talked of deal to bring Nick Allen, retiring manager of St. Paul, to the Chicago White Sox as coach was only conversation. Rumors were to the effect Russell (Lena) Blackburne, manager of the White Sox, was angling for Allen's services, but Blackburne did not seem anxious to confirm these reports.

Hollywood, of the Pacific Coast league, purchased Redl Rollings from the Boston Red Sox.

JOINT MEETING IS PEACEFUL AFFAIR

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League tossed his revolutionary idea of a 10-man baseball team into the joint meeting of the National League club owners yesterday. The proposal fell as flat as a cooking school cake. It was not even discussed except by President Heydler himself when he presented the idea to the club owners. Then he talked about it apologetically, explaining he merely wanted to go on record with the scheme for future consideration.

With the idea tabled, the pitchers of both the National and American Leagues will bat for themselves during the coming season.

MEETING PEACEFUL

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, presiding over the session, had little opportunity to wave the "big stick," as peace and harmony prevailed from start to finish. The club owners unanimously agreed to start the major league season on April 16, about a week later than usual, and wind it up October 6, a week later than the close of the 1928 season. This will bring the world series in conflict with the football season as the baseball classic, under the new closing date cannot be started until October 9 or 10.

The minor league situation was discussed, but it was the sense of the joint meeting that no major league representation should attend the minor league draft conference to be held at West Baden, Ind., January 10. The majors will be glad to listen to the minors relative to the draft question, but will leave this subject entirely up to the minor leaguers.

LANDIS PROBES

Probably taking cognizance of the minor leaguers' demands that the major league owners give up their minor league holdings within three years, Commissioner Landis canvassed the situation in this respect, causing each club to reveal the minor league clubs they control, or own, as farms.

Commissioner Landis' request disclosed many of the major league clubs are interested in the minor leagues, either controlling them or owning them outright.

The checkup on this question revealed Brooklyn interested in Macon, Ga.; Boston Nationals in Providence; Chicago Cubs in Reading, Pa., Cincinnati in Columbus, O., and Peoria; Pittsburgh in Salisbury, N. C., and Columbia, S. C., and St. Louis Nationals in Rochester, N. Y., Houston, Tex., Danville, Ill., Dayton, O., and Topeka, Kan.

In the American League it was revealed Cleveland had an interest in Fredericksburg, Va., and a working agreement with Terre Haute, Ind. Also that Detroit was interested in Evans-

PANTHERS LOSE BY 35-33

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The University of Pittsburgh's great basketball quintet, undefeated last year and claimant of the national championship, met defeat here last night, 35-33, at the hands of a brilliant Butler University five in the first game of the Panther's western invasion.

The Bulldogs put up a fast offense in the last 10 minutes of the final half to pull away from Pitt to win. Butler took the lead at the start and held the advantage until half time, leading, 17 to 16.

The Panthers rallied early in the last half and drew away from the Bulldogs, but with Chandler, Hildebrand and Christopher leading the attack, Butler snatched a five-point lead with only five minutes to play and withstood a final Pitt offensive. The lineup:

Don Saunders, publicity director of the University of Pittsburgh athletic department, who is accompanying the Panthers on the trip, has been stricken ill and may be forced to remain here while the squad continues its tour. Saunders is believed to have contracted influenza. The lineup:

Pitt—33.		Butler—35.
Zefhuss	F.	Chandler
Arture	F.	White
Wunderlich	C.	Hildebrand
Hyatt	G.	Hosler
L. Cohen	G.	Hinchman

Substitutions—Christopher for White, Bugg for Hinchman, Baker for Arture, Gerrario for Wunderlich. Field goals—Chandler 4, White, Hildebrand 7, Arture, Baker 2, Wunderlich 3, Hyatt 3, L. KERR DEPARTS ON JOURNEY TO COAST

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 14.—Preceding the members of his squad by 24 hours, Head Coach Andy Kerr, of Washington and Jefferson, jointly in charge of the All-Eastern team that will play an All-West team at San Francisco on December 28 in a game for the benefit of the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, departed last night for Chicago on the first leg of the journey to the Pacific Coast. Kerr had a three-fold object in leaving yesterday. The most important is to confer with Coach Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, with whom he is associated in the assemblage and management of the Eastern players, regarding details of the trip and the forthcoming game before the 22 players from east of the Mississippi gather at Chicago.

Hanley will go to Chicago from Evanston to meet Kerr and the two coaches will arrange for headquarters at the Palmer House, and be ready for the distribution of equipment when the players arrive Saturday. The coaches expect to have a practice of two or three hours before the entire squad leaves the Mid-West Metropolis.

WESTERN STARS NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The Western team which will play an Eastern squad in the annual East-West charity football game here December 29 is nearly complete. Twenty-two men have been selected, but two of this number are indefinite.

Those named so far are:

Ends—Cruickshank, Olympic club; Doren, Southern California; Ford, Olympic club; Petty, Texas A. & M.

Tackles—Sellman, Stanford; Tobin, St. Mary's; Dressel, Washington State; Carman, Utah.

Guards — Robesky, Stanford; Diehl, Idaho; Farwick, West Coast Army.

Center — Grannuci, Santa Clara; Vickers, Colorado Aggies.

Quarterback — Cowan, Sul Ross, Texas; Walker, Texas Tech.

Halfbacks — Sims, Stanford; Speicher, West Coast Army; Marcus, California; Horan, Washington State.

Fullback—Hoffman, Stanford; Allen, Olympic club.

Hodge Davidson, Stanford end, is listed as indefinite while Seraphim Post, Stanford guard, sustained a broken bone in his foot in the game with Army December 1, and probably will not be able to play.

Grant to Defend His Boxing Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Leonard Grant, guard of New York University's football team, has changed his mind and will defend his intercollegiate heavyweight boxing championship.

Grant decided a few weeks ago that he didn't like boxing and had had enough of it. He stuck by this decision for a few days, traveling to the N. Y. U. boxing team's headquarters every now and then to watch his former teammates in action. A few days ago the urge was too much for him, so he donned gloves, entered the ring and sparred for a few minutes. After that he decided boxing wasn't so bad a sport after all. He plans to begin active training next week.

Waltons to Hold 'Fish Night' Fete

The Allegheny Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will hold its annual "Fish Night" banquet tonight in the Allegheny Elks Temple. Prominent members of the Izaak Walton League from all sections of the state are expected to attend the dinner.

Movies of fish life will be shown the guests after the banquet. Nathan R. Miller, state commissioner of fisheries, will deliver the feature address.

Harpster to Cover Coast Games for Sun-Telegraph

HOWARD HARPSTER, all-America quarterback and captain of the Carnegie Tech team of the past season, has turned scribe and joined the all-star sports staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. He leaves for Chicago tonight to join the all-East team selected by Coach Andy Kerr of W. & J., to play against the all-West team in the Shriners' annual benefit game for the orphans' fund at San Francisco, Saturday, December 29. Daily while on the trip he will write a story of the doings of the squad. Then he will cover the game itself and move on to Los Angeles to report the Tournament of Roses game on New Year's Day for this newspaper.

Harpster is rated the smartest field general to be developed in this section in years and is just as clever off the gridiron as he is on it. He writes his own stuff, as the accompanying picture shows. Watch for his first exclusive story in tomorrow's issue.

TWO CAGE CAPTAINS

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 14.—Two captains will share the burden of leading Grove City College through a basketball campaign that looms up as one of the most strenuous in years. Bobby Angelo and Bud Elliott received an equal number of votes for the captaincy at the election, which closed the season last year, and will alternate as leaders.

Big Bill Will Be Reinstated Soon, But Will Be a Pro Tilden

BUBBLES MADE PILOT

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Eugene (Bubbles) Hargraves, veteran Cincinnati backstop, yesterday was signed as manager of the St. Paul Club of the American Association, after Brooklyn finally waived on him. St. Paul agreed to turn over Pitcher Paul Zahniser to the Reds and some cash for Hargraves.

COLLEGE COURT SEASON OPENS HERE IN WEEK

By JESS CARVER.

PITTSBURGH will be ripe and ready for the opening of the collegiate basketball season here next week when Pitt and the Dukes present their 1928-29 varsity lineups in action against two highly rated out-of-town fives.

The Panthers, sojourning in the Middle West, are being followed avidly by their local supporters, who are anxious to get a line on the possibilities of the Blue and Gold quintet prior to viewing them against Dartmouth here next Saturday night. Duquesne had an informal opening last night, playing the Y. M. H. A. five on the Oakland floor.

Dartmouth visited the Stadium last year, bringing along a reputation and the Eastern Intercollegiate League championship. Pitt refused to be awed either by the reputation or the title of the easterners, and administered a sound thumping.

Ohio Northern, an Ohio Conference school, will send its varsity five here on Friday for a game with the Dukes. The Ohioans are to make a three-game swing through the tri-state district, playing Slippery Rock State Teachers and Grove City prior to meeting the Dukes.

Both Elmer Layden and Duquesne University are being complimented on the five-year contract Elmer has signed with the Bluff institution, calling for his retention as head football coach for that period. Layden has demonstrated his ability in the two years he's been at Duquesne, and Duquesne has given Layden its moral support—which is something the school seemed strangely adverse to tendering any coach in the past. The Duke football games this past fall were exceedingly well attended, and good crowds followed the Red and Blue to Washington for the Wash-Jeff contest and to Beaver Falls for the Geneva battle.

In signing Layden to a five-year contract, the Dukes have given sufficient evidence of their intention to stay up in big time college athletics.

The next logical move should be to sign John Holohan to a long-term contract—thus giving the athletic department stability and insuring efficient management of the school's affairs. Layden and Holohan, Davies and Reagan make a fine manager-coaching combination.

When the Pitt basketball team romps out on the floor at the Stadium next Saturday night for the game with Dartmouth, the folks present will see a nifty looking set of uniforms—if nothing else. The trousers and blouses are of brighter hue than last year, though following the same design. The blouses have choker collars, with a zipper arrangement, instead of the V-neck style of last season.

Speaking of uniforms, Pitt's football sweaters this year did not appear to be as flashy as those worn by the Panthers in 1927. After the first washing the gold became dull—as though the blue from the rosin strips had faded and run a bit. Towards the latter part of the year, the outfits seemed dull and streaky.

The C. of C. gave Tech and Westinghouse High School a nice luncheon yesterday in the Chamber's dining room. It was unfortunate in the extreme that Howard Harpster, captain of the Tech eleven, was unable to be present. Harpy is laid up with a slight attack of grippe. He will be able to leave for the coast tonight to play in the East-West game as a member of the Eastern eleven.

Mayor Kline proved himself as able a cheer leader as he is a speaker. He called for, and led cheers for Bob Waddell, the Tech squad and the Westinghouse squad and also for the C. of C.

TITLE BOUT TONIGHT

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The flyweight championship of the world will be at stake when Frankie Genaro, present holder of the title, meets Steve Rocco, Canadian champion, in a 10-round bout tonight. The pair met in Toronto Rocco's home, last summer and fought to a draw.

Waynesburg Opens Season Tomorrow

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—The Waynesburg College Yellow Jacket basketball team will open the 1928-29 basketball season here tomorrow night by meeting the California State Teachers College, of California. Booked originally as a "warm-up" contest the game now looms as a real test for Coach Wolfe's men.

WILCE TO QUIT FOOTBALL

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Dr. John W. Wilce, who for 16 years coached Ohio State University's football teams, sang his swan song last night but, as he put it, he "felt more like an eagle screaming the 'Marseilles' than a swan piping down."

Before the Franklin County Alumni Association of Ohio State, gathered to honor him with a farewell banquet, Dr. Wilce announced he would become a practicing physician here after a year's study in Europe and America.

Discarding a formal written speech as "too stilted," Dr. Wilce asked permission to "grow mellow for just a few minutes and I will talk as I have never talked before.

"I want to apologize for a pose I have worn for 16 years," he said. "All the time I have seemed to have less confidence in my ability than I really had. I am not apologizing for things done in a coaching way, and I say this not in egotism, but you have had in all these 16 years as good a coach as there is in the conference.

"I leave the football situation at Ohio State convinced more firmly than ever before of the soundness of the policy there during the past 16 years. I can point to half a dozen conference games we could have won had we wished to change our policies."

Uansa, Donnelli At Bridgeville Fete

Toby Uansa, Pitt, and Buff Donnelli, Duquesne, grid stars, gave the members of the Bridgeville High School squad some pointers on football during a banquet tendered the borough gridditrs by the Bridgeville Hungry Club in the Bridgeville Presbyterian Church, last night.

Letters of regret from Howard Harpster, Tech All-America quarterback, and Andy Kerr, Wash-Jeff coach, were read, both being absent because of preparations for the East-West classic. C. C. Erhard, president of the Hungry Club, acted as toastmaster. Oliver Jones, Bridgeville captain, and S. A. McFarland, member of the school board, and former Wash-Jeff player, spoke. Music was furnished by the high school band and jubilee singers from Waynesburg.

Christner, New Ring Star, Pal of Babe

By RODGER PIPPEN.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 14.—Another lad with a punch has turned up to add to the glory of his alma mater, St. Mary's Industrial School of Baltimore.

At the same time that Babe Ruth was learning how to sock baseballs in the wall-shadowed diamond out on Wilkins avenue, another sturdy youngster was catching and boxing, and doing other things to develop his body.

Myers Wilson Christner was the name of the lad who was Babe's battery mate in those good old days.

He had left the school two years before Jack Dunn came to take Ruth away to fame and fortune, but he rejoiced in the good luck of his pal and has watched his progress all through the years that followed.

PAL OF THE BABE

Unknown to athletic renown when he trudged away from St. Mary's, Christner remained out of the spotlight until he socked Knute Hansen on the chin the other night, and blossomed forth as a heavyweight championship prospect.

That punch sent reporters to him to learn his athletic history and for the first time it became known that he and the famous Babe were kids together at old St. Mary's.

The fight world figured he was a set-up for Hansen when the bout was announced. But the boy from St. Mary's fooled them all, including Billy Gibson, the man who piloted Gene Tunney to the title and who paid $11,000 in real money for Knute's ring contract.

In consequence of his victory Christner stands a chance to gather some real money. He has been matched to box Jack Sharkey in New York, and win, lose or draw he can be proud of his achievement of knocking Hansen and fate silly, after being kept in the background for 20 years.

THE ST. MARY SPIRIT

The fighter, leaping into prominence at an age when most scrappers are in their rocking chairs at home, must have imbibed some of the same spirit from St. Mary's which has carried Babe Ruth to undreamed of heights and helped him over the many rough spots.

At St. Mary's, prior to his victory over Hansen, the name of Myers Wilson Christner was not a byword.

In fact, none of the brothers there could recall such a boy having attended the school.

A study of the records, produced the fact that the lad was born and raised in Allegany county, near Cumberland; that he entered St. Mary's when 12 or 13 years old; that he left two years before the late Jack Dunn came to grab Ruth, and that he was a member of one of the class baseball teams.

Nothing had been heard of him at St. Mary's until he socked his way to overnight fame.

St. Mary's now can boast of two boys with a punch.

Brutal Playing Marks French Rugby Match

MARMANDE, France, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Rugby football has become so rough in France that newspapers everywhere have begun a movement to "clean up" the game.

A match between Marmande and Bergerac has brought the movement to a head. A Marmande player virtually strangled the Bergerac captain, Beaussoleil, during a game while thousands of spectators looked on. Beaussoleil was carried off the field unconscious with his tongue hanging out and foam on his lips while Marmande rooters howled: "Well done Kill him!" Police had to be summoned to keep them from attacking the rest of the Bergerac team.

Beaussoleil narrowly escaped death. The sporting press said the time had come to put an end to such brutal playing, remarking that under present conditions in France a straight-jacket was more suitable for players than a rugby jersey.

MOSTIL IS FETED

WHITING, Ind., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Johnny Mostil, fleet-footed Chicago White Sox outfielder, is still the "pride of Whiting." Whiting dignitaries feted Mostil last night and presented him gifts. Several baseball stars attended the party.

STRIB, SHARKEY FIGHT SET

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Tex Rickard has announced that Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Young Stribling, sensational young Georgian, have agreed to meet in an elimination tournament bout at Miami Beach, Fla., in an open air arena to be constructed there to seat 50,000.

While no date has been set for the match, considered the heavyweight "plum" of the winter season, Rickard said that the arena would be ready for the last week in February or the first of March. Rickard will promote the match with the assistance of the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce in somewhat the same fashion as he staged the second meeting of Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in Chicago in 1926.

Because of the large number of visitors in Florida at that time, Rickard estimated that the proceeds should approach $500,000. He will leave for Miami Beach January 1 to work out details for the match.

Although neither Sharkey nor Stribling have signed, the promoter said both have signified their willingness to box there. Plans for the open air arena have been completed, he said.

STIENKE TOPS PLESTINA

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Hans Stienke, German heavyweight wrestler, last night defeated Marin Plestina, of Chicago, in two falls out of three. Jim McMillan, former University of Illinois football star, defeated Fritz Van Mier, of Iowa, in one fall.

Rudy Ceder to Meet Cuddy DeMarco

Joe Smith, of Philadelphia, manager of Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight champion, has a new boxer under his wing who he thinks has a good chance of eventually succeeding the boys of the stable. He is Frankie Cawley, who has knocked out 11 of his last 12 opponents.

Mike Harding, of the North Side, is the local booking manager of Buck McTiernan, the welterweight, who now is under the management of Joe Lewis, of Cleveland, having broken with Eddie Mead of the same city. Harding also is the pilot of Rudy Ceder.

McFOWLER VS. GEMAS

Ike McFowler, Johnstown Negro heavyweight, and George Gemas, Philadelphia's rough and ready mixer, will meet in a 10-round bout at Oil City next Monday night. Jake Pitler is the promoter. McFowler claims he was stale from overtraining for his bout with Murray Gitlitz at Johnstown last Monday night, which he lost.

Promoter Mique Malloy has put together a great card for his show in the Chicago Coliseum next Monday night. He has Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight champion, in the main bout against Big Boy Peterson, who holds two decisions over Otto Von Porat; Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, against Armando Santiago in another 10-rounder, and Shuffle Callahan against Ted Rosa in still another feature number, along with two preliminaries. Top price for the tickets is $5.50.

McCarthy to Speak At Aspinwall Fete

Joe McCarthy, quarterback of the Duquesne University eleven, and a former Aspinwall High School star, will be one of the guests of honor and speakers at the banquet to be tendered the undefeated Aspinwall High School squad of the past season by Louis W. Hagmaier, burgess of Aspinwall, in Webster Hall next Monday evening.

The inter-boroughs trophy donated by the Etna Elks and won three times by Aspinwall, will be presented. An imposing list of speakers is being arranged for and plans completed for the biggest night in the school's history. The council of Aspinwall will attend.

BUTLER ARMCO WINS

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 14.—The Butler Armco passers rang up their third victory in as many starts by taking over the strong Indiana Y five on the local Y floor in a fast battle, 54 to 23.

DUKES DEFEAT Y. M. H. A.

Duquesne University informally opened its basketball season in the Bluff gym last night when it turned back Y. M. H. A., 27 to 20, in a practice game.

Although the Dukes quite outclassed their opponent in the first half, leading 20 to 8, in the second the Red and Blue quintet was held down and almost overtaken. Benedict and Losman accounted for most of the Davies' five's tallies.

The Dukes appeared splendidly as a co-operating, passing team, with Vernon showing fine at center, and Losman and Rosenberg a trifle off form. The lineup:

Duquesne—27.		Y. M. H. A.—20.
Benedict	F.	Maimude
Losman	F.	Levine
Vernon	C.	Olbum
Stephens	G.	Kateman
Rosenberg (C)	G.	Chapuo

Score by periods:

Duquesne	14	6	2	5—27
Y. M. H. A.	6	2	8	4—20

Substitutions: Duquesne—Colodi for Losman, Losman for Colodi, Colodi for Vernon. Y. M. H. A.—Barman for Maimude, Mandel for Levine, Shapiro for Kateman. Field goals—Benedict 3, Losman 2, Vernon 2, Stephens, Rosenberg, Levine 2, Kateman 3, Shapiro, H. Barman. Fouls—Duquesne, 9 out of 15; Y. M. H. A., 6 out of 14. Referee—Brickley.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Indiana dedicated its new $300,000 field house last night by defeating Pennsylvania, champion basketball team of the East last year, 34-26, before a crowd of 9,000.

'CASTLE BREAKS WITH B. FALLS

NEW CASTLE, Dec. 14.—The Board of Education, at its meeting Thursday night, approved the recommendation of the high school athletic council, that all athletic relations with Beaver Falls High be cancelled. It was also directed that the suspension of athletic relations be for indefinite period.

When reinstated in W. P. I. A. L. New Castle will insist that Beaver Falls not be included in its section.

JOINT MEETING

ville, Fort Smith, Ark., and a working agreement with Hanover of the Blue Ridge League. Philadelphia Athletics hold an interest in Portland; Phil A. Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, admitted the ownership of the Tulsa and Muskogee clubs. In addition, William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs also owns the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League.

MORIARTY TO RETURN

Outside of the failure of the 16-man team idea to register, the show-down on the major league holdings of minor league clubs, the setting of the new opening and closing dates, the deliberations were mostly routine. The club owners agreed that no player under 17 years of age would be eligible to sign a contract. They also decided to turn over another $50,000 to the American Legion baseball fund next summer to be used to conduct a baseball tournament for junior players.

President E. S. Barnard, of the American League, announced that George Moriarty, former manager of the Detroit Tigers, would return to the league as a member of the umpiring staff next year, and that Dave Harry, of Boston, had been placed on the reserve list of umpires.

The "TWIN" of a Famous ENGLISH DERBY

COACH YETTER IS POPULAR AT KINGSLEY

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE Kingsley House Association, one of the most prominent community centers in the Greater Pittsburgh district in the development of first-class amateur athletes, owes much of its success to Coach Fred Yetter, one of the pioneers of amateur sports in this section of the state.

Starting out in a small building located at Bedford avenue and Fullerton street, a building in which many of Pittsburgh's outstanding stars in all fields of athletic endeavor were taught the fundamentals that later were to make them stars on scholastic and collegiate teams, Kingsley House has grown into an institution that ranks with the finest of its kind in the state.

Boasting an up-to-date structure in East Liberty, Kingsley House now is in a position to compete in all fields of amateur sport with the leading community centers in this vicinity.

VETERAN COACH

Coach Yetter has been connected with Kingsley House athletics for a number of years and has played an important part in placing that organization among the leaders in this section. Handicapped for a number of years owing to the lack of a first-class facilities in which to promote amateur sports on a major scale, the East Liberty community center now has available a building that compares favorably with the best in this vicinity.

During his long reign as coach at Kingsley House Yetter has come in contact with many youngsters who later were to attain success on scholastic, collegiate, independent and professional teams. These boys, many of them just raw youngsters when they first enrolled at Kingsley House, owe much of their athletic success to the coaching of the Kingsley House athletic director.

When the Kingsley House was struggling for existence 16 years ago it served as a haven for boys from all sections of the city. Basketball seemed to be the most popular sport fostered by Kingsley House and it was in this game that the present East Liberty organization attained most of its success.

Coach Yetter, judging by the showing of his team in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League so far this season, apparently has developed another quintet that is capable of defeating the best in its class. Forced to rebuild his floor machine owing to the loss of veterans who decided to play elsewhere this winter, Coach Yetter has succeeded in molding a winning combination from a handful of inexperienced passers.

STRIKES WINNING STRIDE

Kingsley House appears to have struck its natural stride after getting off to a poor start, its most notable achievement being a victory over the Y. M. H. A. team, which up until the time it met Yetter's passers was undefeated.

An unassuming fellow, who has taken his reverses without whimpering, Yetter has won the respect of all connected with amateur sports. A popular fellow among the members of Kingsley House, Yetter has the knack of getting the most out of his players. Many boys not considered good basketball material by other coaches have been developed into first-class players by the Kingsley House mentor. Look over the rosters of the leading basketball teams in this section and you will find many boys who were taught their basketball rudiments by the popular Kingsley House coach.

Coach Yetter's success at Kingsley House has attracted widespread attention hereabouts and many organizations have attempted to lure him from that institution. Yetter, however, apparently has no intention of forsaking Kingsley House and has turned down many flattering offers to coach elsewhere.

MAYBERRY WINS IN A PUNCH

One good right hand sock on the whiskers by Howard Mayberry, veteran bantamweight of Donora, sufficed to snuff the fighting life out of Jack Gentile, of Philadelphia, substituting for Davey Adelman, of the same town, in the scheduled 10-round main bout at McKeesport last night. Gentile, a southpaw, was open for the well-planted smash and the battle had not progressed much more than a minute before he was knocked cold outside the ropes. It may or may not have been a fluke punch; Gentile wasn't in there long enough to demonstrate whether or not he could fight.

Leo Kyburksi, of Swissvale, defeated Jack Unglo, of Etna; Howard Williams, of Swissvale, won over Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, and Young Angelo, of Swissvale, bested Joe Perren, of Pittsburgh, in the six-round preliminaries.

GOOD SOCCER TILTS BILLED

By TOM BIRKS.

WITH the big cup tie looming at Pitt Stadium Christmas Day, soccer football over this week-end will be overshadowed by the big Heidelberg-Dunlevy tilt, but the fans will have more than the average soccer to watch with the American and District leagues featuring good games.

Tomorrow will find Twin Boro again visiting Homewood playgrounds in search of points, the last visit of the North Siders to the East End was very productive, for the Boro eleven galloped away with a victory from Clan Douglas.

But this time, Twin Boro will be playing Pittsburgh Soccer Club and, seeing that Heidelberg is the only club that has stopped Pittsburgh at Homewood this fall, it is hard to figure how Twin Boro will turn the trick.

The other big game in the District League will find the Douglas eleven making a trip to Swissvale, and this game should be worth while. Jack Thomas has been driving the Union Switch boys hard and some changes have been made in the lineup.

With the District League race getting tighter each week, all of the clubs will knuckle down to business and some good games should ensue.

On Sunday Heidelberg will find another tough battle when Carl Meiserberg takes the German Sport Club to the Carnegie suburb. German Sport, with its brilliant passing attack, always provided plenty of thrills at Heidelberg, and this game should put the Heidelberg team on edge for the semi-final game.

Manager Balsarini will probably make one change from last Sunday's eleven. Alex Kusis, the fastest outside right in the district, will be fit again and come into the lineup in place of Barrafoldi.

Dunlevy will make the trip to Chambers Field, East Pittsburgh, to meet Westinghouse, and that should attract the Valley fans. The other game in that league will find the East Pittsburgh Magyars visiting the Corinthians at Curry.

The final score was 28 to 26. The winners displayed championship form against the Rauhs, and as a result now are tied for first place with the Duquesne Lafayettes, whom they meet in their home opener at the South Side Market House tomorrow night.

in Japan, sends an interesting letter to President Heydler about baseball in the Orient.

"The baseball of the Japanese is very good," Quigley writes. "I think it is as good as, if not better than, the grade played at our best universities and colleges in America. There is a six-university league that plays a series of games, and then plays what they call the 'Japanese world series.'

Tony Canzoneri

"THERE are a few clubs in the empire that are not university teams, but they are made up of graduates of the six universities here. I might add that they draw some splendid crowds. At the two games that decided the championship of the colleges we had 40,000 on Saturday and 50,000 on Sunday. The admission is 50 yen, or 25 cents in our money, for the grandstand, and 25 yen, or 12½ cents, for the bleachers. I have been conducting coaching schools for officials in both basketball and baseball, and after getting them well started I had about 400 at the basketball class and about 80 at the baseball class. We have been treated royally by the universities while here."

IT isn't often in any sport that the appearance in a contest of a boy only 23 years old, and with a professional career of only four years behind him, is looked upon as a sort of come-back attempt. Yet Tony Canzoneri will be viewed somewhat in that light when he enters the ring with Al Singer for a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden, New York tonight.

Few fighters have even seen the whole works or gone the entire route at such an early age as Canzoneri. You don't often hear of a boxer being an ex-world champion before he is 23, but that may be said of Canzoneri, for he did not celebrate his twenty-third anniversary until November 6 and prior to that date he won the world featherweight title and then lost it to Andre Routis, of France.

SO, with his crown gone, and his name inscribed on the list of former champions, Tony appears to be playing the part of a comeback tonight, even though he has not yet reached the age at which some glovemen have merely started to fight.

Not many battlers are able to show after a championship overthrow the same dash and sparkle that marked their advance to the throne, and whether Canzoneri will be able to do it is a question.

Tony looked good in knocking out Chick Suggs in the sixth round of a hard bout last Saturday night, but he will have a dangerous customer on his hands tonight, as Singer has lots of speed and boxing ability, and also carries a real punch, as is shown by the fact that he won his last four engagements by the kayo route. The only points about him that are still in doubt are his ability to "take it," and whether he can go the 10-round distance against strong opposition without weakening or slowing down.

MAL STEVENS, Yale's head football coach had a drab season with a team that first showed promise and then slumped to an extent that brought defeat in its biggest and most important games, but veteran gridiron men recall another campaign that was even more disappointing to the Elis and their followers. That was the season of 1915, when the Blue eleven was going so poorly that it appeared to be facing certain disaster, sending the spirits of Yale men everywhere to a point not far above zero.

Mal Stevens

AS one man relates it, Yale, in desperation, sent a distress call to Tom Shevlin, out in Milwaukee. Tom had been one of the Blue's greatest ends, and his specialty since leaving New Haven had been the rebuilding of wrecked football teams.

Shevlin hurried East. He found little material to work with, and he had only one week in which to do his rebuilding, but he labored on the field during the afternoons and spent the night with paper and pencil figuring out each new problem that developed. As a result of his efforts, Yale beat a Princeton team, 13 to 7, but one week later Harvard buried the Bulldog under a score of 41 points. After the game one of Shevlin's friends asked him what had happened, and Tom then coined an expression that has been used ever since in football. "You can't make two lemonades out of one lemon," he replied.

STATE '29 GRID CARD SET

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Resumption of football relations with New York University next season was revealed in the 1929 Penn State schedule announced yesterday by Graduate Manager Neil Fleming.

The card, which lists nine games next year, shows State will play N. Y. U. at New York on October 19, replacing Notre Dame on the schedule. The New York institution was on the 1927 schedule, but Penn State did not play the team in the season just ended. Other changes from this year are the substitution of Niagara University and Marshall College of West Virginia for Gettysburg and George Washington.

The complete schedule follows: September 28, Niagara, at home; October 5, Lebanon Valley, at home; October 12, Marshall College, at home; October 19, New York University, at New York; October 26, Lafayette, at home (home-coming day); November 2, Syracuse, at Syracuse; November 9, Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; November 16, Bucknell, at home (Pennsylvania day), and November 28, Thanksgiving, Pittsburgh, at Pittsburgh.

Chillysauce

Walter Maranville became a major league shortstop in time to see the best shortfielders in the history of the game in daily action. The same may be said to apply to Dave Bancroft, Rabbit and Banny being the only athletes of this position in the past 15 years who deserve to be compared with the great Flying Dutchman of Carnegie.

Travis Jackson belongs in any conversation that has to do with star shortstoppers, but Travis is still a boy in many respects. Glenn Wright also rates a place near the top of recent arrivals, and some fans might expect to see names like Fletcher, Tinker and Hollocher included, but there is a certain consistency surrounding the exploits of the two small marvels—Maranville and Bancroft—that tends to give them an exclusive setting somewhere close to the Wagnerian jewels.

Walter and Dave, it could be argued with much justification, are players superior to fellows like Frisch, Hornsby, Collins and other luminaries, for the reason that any of the trio mentioned was a "flop" at shortstop.

Maranville showed strikingly that he was one of the "sweetest" second basemen in baseball in the one season he moved across the middle bag. Bancroft never made the change, but he probably would be able to fill the keystone bill if he tried. Frisch, Hornsby and Collins, on the other hand, acted somewhat like drunken sailors when they attempted the Wagnerian role.

Frisch was moved to the short field during an absence from the Giant lineup of Travis Jackson. Frankie succeeded in garbling up the works and admitted he was tickled when Jackson came back to carry the responsibility. Hornsby essayed to be the shortstop for the Cardinals, fell down and became a fair second sacker. Collins also tried the more difficult job at the outset of his career, but it is chronicled that he soon learned he was not so good. When all these experiments to view, one feels inclined to regard Rabbit as quite a ball player.

TIGERS' OUTLOOK BRIGHTENED BY BUCKY HARRIS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

BUCKY HARRIS is going somewhere. The breaker boy who led the Senators to successive pennants and a world series after he had taken over the reins of leadership was not in Detroit many days before things began to happen.

The acquisition by the Tigers of Pitcher George Uhle is one of two very interesting transactions completed by the Detroit officials. Uhle was one of the best pitchers in baseball up to this year. For some reason his effectiveness at Cleveland fell off and in due course of events the sterling right-hander was suspended.

Uhle was bothered with a sore arm along with the rest of his troubles. Apparently this ailment has just about left him; at least Uhle, when he worked against the Homestead Grays at Forbes Field last October, looked the part of a real sharpshooter.

Harris had to give up a fair shortstop in Tavener and a fair pitcher in Holloway to land the Cleveland ace, yet Buckey appears to have won the decision. Evidently he has another good prospect for the shortstop position.

The Tigers also are strengthened through the addition of First Baseman Dale Alexander and Pitcher John Prudhomme, who were reported "purchased for $190,000 from Toronto." That thousand grand stuff, however, should not be taken without salt, inasmuch as the Tigers are said to be interested in the ownership of the Toronto club. The deal smacks somewhat of one of those when the Wrigleys Cubs "purchase" a player from Wrigley's Los Angeles team.

Be that as it may, the Tigers are likely to get out of second division oblivion under the leadership of Harris. Buckey proved that he is one of the sport's natural leaders and there always is room for a man of his type in the game.

While on the subjects of American League clubs which appear to be "looking up" it is timely to note that the Cleveland Indians, under the direction of Billy Evans, Roger Peckinpaugh and their rich owners, are enhanced by the purchase of outstanding minor league stars.

Evans, it is presumed, can go almost the limit in the matter of buying players; yet the club failed to land Slugger Smead Jolley, of the San Francisco club. Jolley batted better than .400 and led the Coast League in Homers. Inasmuch as he is a southpaw hitter, who probably could cash in on the short fence in Cleveland, it was believed that the Indians would acquire this socker at the time Earl Averill was landed.

and other Pitt men as assistants, won six games, lost two and tied one. He defeated Thiel, Bethany, Allegheny, Syracuse, W. & J. and Penn State; lost, 9-6, to West Virginia, and 6-0 to Carnegie Tech, and played a scoreless tie with Nebraska.

Herb McCracken, head coach at Lafayette College, won six games, lost one and tied two. He was victorious over Albright, Muhlenburg, George Washington, Rutgers, Penn State and Lehigh, lost to West Virginia and tied Bucknell and W. & J.

Tom Davies, head coach at Rochester, won five, lost two and tied one. He defeated Alfred, Buffalo, Union, Rensselaer and Hobart; lost to Wesleyan and Oberlin and tied Hamilton.

Virginia Poly, coached by Andy Gustafson and Lee Frank, won seven and lost two. The victories were over Roanoke, Camp Sidney, North Carolina, King College, Maryland, Virginia and Wash-Lee and the defeats by Colgate and V. M. I.

Jimmy DeHart, at Duke, won five and lost four. He scored over South Dakota, Maryer, Wake Forest, North Carolina and Davidson, and lost to Boston College, Navy, Georgetown and North Carolina, all good teams.

PAT HERRON, at Washington and Lee, had tough sledding, losing eight games and winning only two. His victims were Lynchburg and North Carolina State, while he bowed to Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee, Virginia, Princeton, V. P. I., Maryland and Florida.

Harvey Harmon, at Haverford, broke even with four victories and as many defeats. He defeated Ursinus, Amherst, Johns Hopkins and St. John's, of Maryland, while he lost to Franklin & Marshall, Hamilton, Drexel and Delaware.

Tommy Holleran won only one game with his Thiel outfit, while he tied two and lost six after holding Pitt to one touchdown for three quarters in the opening battle. His victory was over Juniata, and his ties were with Allegheny and Grove City, two strong natural rivals. He lost to Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, Geneva, Westminster and Canisius.

George McLaren at the University of Wyoming lost seven and won only two. He downed Black Hills and Kearney Teachers and lost to Chicago, Colorado College, Denver University and the Utah Aggies.

Assistant coaches fared as follows: Uhland Hangartner, at Bucknell, won five games, tied two and lost three; Tiny Hewitt, at Army, won eight and lost only to Nebraska and Stanford; Tiny Thornhill and Charley Winterburn, at Stanford with Pop Warner, won eight, lost two and tied one, and Lloyd Jordan, at Colgate, won six and lost three.

JOE REALLY, local boxing referee and bill-poster in a large way, as a booster for K. O. Christner, Akron's heavyweight contender, who he saw knock out Knute Hansen in Cleveland last week.

"Don't let anyone tell you Hansen is a bum," he said, in discussing the 35-year-old newcomer, who is to box Jack Sharkey in New York as a result of his sensational victory. "He's a strong and tough and game and can punch, and any heavyweight with those attributes ought to go a long way.

"When he squared off with Hansen it looked like a setup for Knute, who is tall and rangy and fast, and has a lot of boxing class. Knute speared him with lefts and banged him with rights, but Christner kept walking into him and throwing his right. Finally he connected with that flat and all of the fight was gone out of Hansen, who folded up at once. Knute did not strike me as being sufficiently game to make the grade, but Christner will do. He'll take everything those big fellows have and make them fight. He's nobody's fool."

There have been all sorts of "all" teams since the close of the football season, but none more intriguing than an "all-Mieleiner" team submitted by a friend of Saul Mieleiner, the Carnegie Tech center. In sending it in, this friend remarks that probably no other football player has had his name misspelled as frequently in the linescores as the big fellow. Glancing over a lot of clippings from the newspapers, he has made up the following all-Mieleiner team: Left end, Mieleiner; left tackle, Mieleiner; left guard, Mieleiner; center, Mieleiner; right guard, Mieleiner; right tackle, Mieleiner; right end, Mieleiner; quarterback, Mieleiner; left halfback, Mieleiner; right halfback, Meeleeiner; fullback, Maleener. Mieleiner is correct for at least I think it is).

President of U. S. Should Be Relieved of Routine Duties.

—By B. C. FORBES—

THE United States should have an assistant president, clothed with powers to handle, under the direction of the President, many of the routine matters which now consume much of the Chief Executive's time.

Congress should take a lesson from business in this matter.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE declares: "The duties of the presidency are exceedingly heavy. The responsibilities are overwhelming.

"It is, of course, obvious that the President should not burden himself with details. Those should be attended to by his departments and his office staff. He should not do any work that he can have done by others. Such energy as he has should be directed not so much towards doing work as making certain that the work is being well done."

HIS suggestion that a summer White House be established within automobiling distance of Washington is good as far as it goes. But it does not go nearly far enough.

Provision should be made to lighten the routine tasks of the President. It should not be difficult to induce Congress to pass legislation providing for the creation of the office of assistant to the President. Wide latitude should be allowed the Chief Executive in determining just what duties should be performed by his assistant.

"The United States is the biggest business in the world," it is now often said. Well, what have other large businesses found it necessary to do? Many of them, having discovered that there were more executive duties to do than any one man could attend to, have created supplementary positions. Nearly all gigantic organizations have, in addition to a president, a chairman of the board. Many have an executive vice president, exercising very wide powers. And, of course, vice presidents have become universal in companies of magnitude.

THE business world has had many instances of chief executives killing themselves by overwork. At this moment not a few presidents of corporations and institutions are suffering from nervous breakdowns, due to overstrain. Boards of directors, however, are now awake to the importance of doing everything practicable to preserve the health of their chief executive.

Should "the biggest business in the world" neglect to take this same precaution.

Herbert Hoover has had vast experience in business. He could very readily co-operate with Congress in drawing up a bill to define, or at least outline, the responsibilities which it would be permissible for the assistant president to undertake. It is doubtful, however, if Mr. Hoover would make the first move, since he justifiably prides himself on the amount of work he can get through.

But were he invited by Congress, he doubtless would readily acquiesce in so sensible a plan as the delegating of unimportant routine work to a capable assistant. Of course, nothing would be stipulated which would encroach in the slightest upon the authority and responsibility of the Chief Executive. His assistant would be strictly under his orders, just as all minor executives are in a business organization. Thus there would be no room whatsoever for any clashing of minds or friction of any kind. The selection of his assistant should be left to the Chief Executive, also as in the business world.

WHAT befell President Woodrow Wilson and President Warren G. Harding should not be forgotten simply because Calvin Coolidge happened to be a man of unusually sturdy constitution and able to function for long periods without feeling the necessity for extended relaxation.

Certain it is that the whole trend in this country is to heap greater and greater tasks and responsibilities upon the President. Therefore, the need for meeting the situation is bound to become more urgent each year.

THE suggestion here made unquestionably will meet with the cordial approval of business men throughout the nation. And it should meet also with the approval of every man in Congress who possesses business sense.

Will someone in Congress please take the initiative?

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was quiet and unchanged early today at 5.96 for spots duty paid, with no sales reported.

The raw futures market opened unchanged to 2 points lower under liquidation, and selling by houses with trade and European connections, influenced by the poor showing of the London market and the inactivity in the spot market. Houses with Cuban connections bought on the decline, however, and rallies followed, with the market at midday unchanged to 1 point lower. Trading on the whole was not particularly active, and it appeared as if operators were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await further developments.

The market for refined was steady, with prices unchanged at 5.25 for fine granulated.

STOCK MARKET OPENS WITH SPURT

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—The stock market opened today with an outburst of strength. Radio Corporation common opened at 329 and then advanced to 330, an overnight gain of 22 points. Coty, Westinghouse Electric, Goodyear and Johns Manville opened 2 to 3 points higher and initial gains of a point or two were recorded by Chrysler, Union Carbide, Greene Cananea Copper, International Combustion and Archer Daniels Midland.

The reduction of nearly $213,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans last week, coupled with the easing of call money, provided the background for a sharp advance in the early trading. Shorts in some of the high priced specialties were again driven to cover as pools took large blocks of stock out of the market.

Victor Talking Machine opened with a block of 40,000 shares at 140, an overnight gain of 16¾ points. Radio extended its gain to 32 points by touching 340, which contrasts with last week's low of 275. International Nickel ran up 12½ points to a new high record at 245, which compares with the year's low of 73⅝.

Dupont, Greene Cananea Copper, Wright Aeronautical, Midland Steel Products preferred, American International and Timken Roller Bearing all sold 2½ to 3½ points higher before the end of the first half hour.

Rails continued to move forward with the industrials. One block of 6,000 shares of Chicago Great Western preferred changed hands at 48⅞, up 1 and a new high record. Erie and Southern Railway ran up nearly 2 points in the early trading.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling cables unchanged at $4.85 5-32.

The market turned reactionary before midday, Houston Oil breaking 13 points more to 79. Wright Aero, fell back to 208, off 7, and Radio, after touching 340, up 32 points, receded to 326. General Motors sagged more than 3 points to 183½, a new low for the current movement, while such issues as U. S. Steel, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, and Anaconda eased 1 to 2 points. A drop in the call money renewal rate to 7 per cent. In the bankers acceptance rate.

New York Bond Market | Sanitary Advances

WESTINGHOUSE HEAD EXPECTS GOOD YEAR

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

"THIS is the dull season of the year for our business but conditions are fundamentally sound. We expect a good volume of sales in the new year," E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, said yesterday.

"Money for commercial purposes is plentiful and inventories are low so that there is no reason why the demand for our products should not continue to be large.

"The correction in the stock market is putting an end to inflated values and marks a return to a saner basis."

When asked about foreign business Mr. Herr said that his company had obtained a large volume of sales abroad this year and that he expected this growth to continue.

Mr. Herr was in Pittsburgh yesterday to attend the directors' meeting of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company and to speak at the annual dinner of the Westinghouse Club.

THE advance to $2 a ton in wire products, which will become effective on January 1, makes the prospects for earnings in the first quarter exceptionally bright for the Pittsburgh Steel Company. Wire and seamless tubing are the principal finished products of this company. The improvement in the pipe business has been mentioned frequently in this column. The higher return for wire will place all of the lines on a good sales basis.

Production continues close to capacity. Out of 12 open hearth furnaces 11 are in operation. In steel plants it is practically impossible to have all of the units working at a single time. One of the furnaces is usually undergoing repairs.

Both of the blast furnaces are in production. Orders are showing a tendency to decline as the end of the month nears. This is giving an opportunity to build up inventories which have become somewhat depleted.

THE present fiscal year is likely to be the best which this company has experienced in a long time. In the year ended June 30, 1928, net profit was $1,342,141. In the three months ended September 30, net was $905,822.

Earnings in the current quarter may exceed this figure so that the six months ended December 31 will show greater net income than the entire preceding fiscal year. They may be nearly as large as in the year ended June 30, 1927, when $1,951,957 was reported.

Pittsburgh Steel has just emerged from a lean period during which both types of its finished products suffered from poor market conditions. Large plant improvements have been made in the past three years and the benefits of these can now be shown as the sales volume increases.

THE company is planning to build a by-product coke plant in the near future. No definite time has been set for the work to start but officials believe that it will be within the next three years. The blast furnaces are located on the Monongahela River so that low transportation costs can be secured in bringing coal to the proposed coking plant.

A subsidiary, the Monessen Coal and Coke Company, owns mines at Alicia and Grays Landing. Coke is now produced in bee hive ovens and is shipped to the blast furnaces at Monessen in the only self unloading barge on the river.

The coke is dumped into hoppers on the barge. At the unloading point the coke is dropped through the hoppers and on to a conveyer belt, which carries it directly to the furnaces.

PGH. INVESTMENT SHARES FEATURE LOCAL TRADING

Standard Sanitary common stock was in demand at the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with the confirmation of merger negotiations with American Radiator. Although there was no definite news to indicate how far negotiations have been carried, traders took the attitude that a combination of some sort is likely. The stock opened at 47, up $1 from the previous sale.

Trading was listless during the early part of the session and the turnover was light. The Arkansas Gas issues were active among the fuel shares but moved in a narrow range. Lone Star Gas and Suburban Electric Development traded unchanged from the previous close. Blaw Knox opened a fraction lower. Joseph Horne shares were also off a fraction.

Standard Sanitary continued strong in the late trading, selling up to 48. Officials of the company said that they preferred that all information concerning merger negotiations come from the executives of the American Radiator Company.

There was a flurry in the Pittsburgh Investment Company shares which sold up to 19. Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold a fraction lower at 65½. Carnegie Metals and United Engineering traded unchanged.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points with the active months selling about 7 to 11 points net lower during the early trading under southern selling and some liquidation. The latter was probably inspired by rather smaller domestic consumption figures for November than some had expected, but the market soon firmed up and after selling off to 20.24c for January, rallied to 20.40c on trade buying, covering, and a renewal of local or commission house demand. The report of the census bureau showed 610,884 bales of lint cotton consumed in this country for November compared with 618,788 for October and 626,742 for November last year. While these figures were a shade under recent forecasts, they were regarded as indicating a continued large domestic consumption.

Private cables reported London and continental buying in Liverpool and said there was freer buying of cotton cloths by India and China.

The early rally carried the market up to 20.48c for January and 20.42c for May, or about 9 to 14 points above yesterday's closing quotations. Offerings increased somewhat as prices approached the 20½c mark, however, while the demand tapered off and there were reactions later in the morning. At midday January was selling around 20.34c, and the active months were within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations. December was relatively easy under liquidation, probably promoted by the circulation of notices estimated at 2,000 bales.

CONSOLIDATION

The aggregate sales volume of over $108,000,000 for the twenty-two units in the fiscal year ending January 31, 1928 indicates the large purchasing power of the Corporation. This will make possible for each store an outstanding buying representation in all the important markets of the world which should result in important economies, and in a closer contact with style trends and with the many buying markets. Each of the stores will have the benefit of improvements in systems and methods resulting from expert comparison of all phases of operations.

MANAGEMENT

All the stores will continue to operate under their own long-established names and under those executives who have been largely responsible for their success. A substantial amount of the Common Stock of Hahn Department Stores, Inc., will be owned by member store executives. The central organization of expert executives will be concerned with the coordination of buying activities, the development of more effective methods, and the sound expansion of the chain as favorable opportunities arise. Mr. George W. Mitton, president of Jordan Marsh Company, will be Chairman of the Board of Directors of Hahn Department Stores, Inc.

EARNINGS

The combined net profits of the twenty-two companies above named, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, after excluding income, profits and losses from certain investments, real estate and life insurance not to be retained; deducting salaries of local store executives and employees and rentals to be paid, in lieu of salaries, rentals and other occupancy expenses previously charged; excluding certain other non-recurring charges averaging for the three years $204,291.79 per year; eliminating amortization of leaseholds now written off; adding to income 6% on $4,000,000 new cash but without making any provision for expenses of the holding company; and deducting depreciation, and Federal income taxes at the present rate of 12%, were as follows:

For the fiscal year ended January 31st	Net Profits as above	Equivalent Times Pfd. Div. Req.	Equivalent Per Share Common
1926	$6,086,626.02	4.0	$3.57
1927	6,234,406.30	4.1	3.69
1928	6,130,637.75	4.1	3.61

BALANCE SHEET

Net tangible assets of $37,135,483, or over $161 per share for this issue of 6½% Convertible Preferred Stock, and current assets of $34,665,960, against current liabilities of $8,221,547, a ratio of over 4.2 to 1, are shown by the pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Hahn Department Stores, Inc., as at May 31, 1928, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, giving effect as at that date to the increase in capital of Hahn Department Stores, Inc.; to the acquisitions effected and to be effected; to the issue of its Preferred and Common Stocks presently to be outstanding; to the elimination of certain assets and liabilities; and to the other transactions enumerated in their certificate attached to the President's letter."

All of the common stock of Jordan Marsh Company and C. F. Hovey Company has already been acquired directly or indirectly and the Corporation has firm contracts to acquire all of the common stock of the other twenty companies. The Corporation reserves the right not to acquire any stock contracted to be acquired, if the vendors fail to comply with any of the conditions of their contracts, in which event the Common Stock of the Corporation and/or the cash deliverable in exchange or payable as the purchase price for such stock will be retained in the treasury of the Corporation, to be available for future acquisitions, and the pro forma consolidated balance sheet and earnings statement referred to above will be subject to appropriate adjustment.

The Corporation has agreed to make application to list both the 6½% Convertible Preferred Stock and the Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Passenger Airplanes Promised for Pittsburgh

Announcement is made that passenger airplane service between Pittsburgh and New York and between this city and Washington will be available by January 1, with the possibility that the aerial route to the national capital will be open before that date. Daily trips are planned, "wind and weather permitting." This to assure the safety of passengers.

Hopping from Pittsburgh to New York in three and a half hours or to Washington in two hours, the proposed schedule time, is an erasing of miles off the map that should mean much to the busy man. There also is the significance the future holds of making the round trip in one day.

Pittsburgh should welcome this service and likely will. Many thousands here have taken the short flights that are a feature of the operations of several landing fields hereabouts. They have had the experience of being in the air and many of them will be eager to make the longer trips either for business or pleasure.

In this pioneering period of aviation safety of the passenger is the first consideration, hence the limitation of flights to times when flying weather is favorable all along the route. The day will come, however, when airplanes will leave their stations on schedule time regardless of all, perhaps, except the most severe meteorological disturbances. That is something that must be expected. Even powerful locomotives cannot cope with heavy snow, which slows up and often halts railway trains.

The airplane truly annihilates distance and Pittsburgh will be fortunate in getting opportunity to employ it.

Tax Rates Are Unchanged In the City and County

If the valuation of your property is not increased, your city and county taxes for 1929 will be the same as for 1928.

Pittsburgh Council and the County Commissioners yesterday fixed the same rates for next year as were in force this year. It was possible for both official bodies to do this by practicing economies in their budgets for 1929 and securing additional revenue to cover necessary new expenditures by increases in the taxable value of various pieces of improved property.

At the last session of the Legislature Senator Frank J. Harris had a law passed making it obligatory on taxing bodies to state all tax rates not only in mills but also in dollars and cents on each $100 of assessed valuation of taxable property.

If you read the story of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny county tax-fixing in the news columnn of the Sun-Telegraph yesterday you got the information in this lucid form. For example, the tax on land in Pittsburgh is $2.50 for each $100 of valuation. Our business is transacted in dollars and cents. It seems sensible to express our tax rates in the same terms.

Probe of Graft Ends, Opening Way to Trials

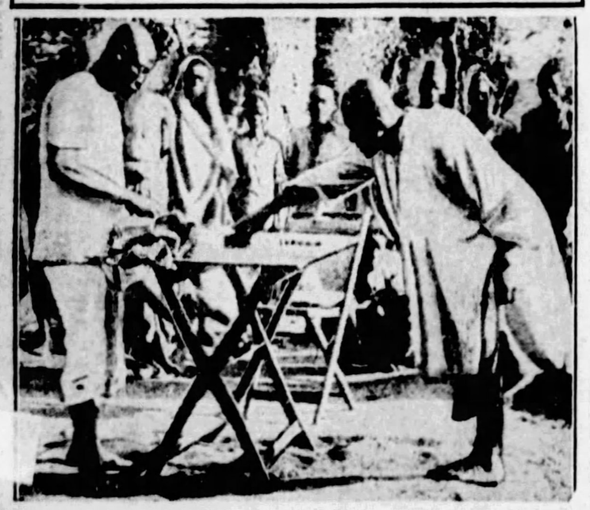
District Attorney Gardner, engaged for many weeks in conducting a grand jury probe of vice and graft conditions in Pittsburgh, terminates that phase of the work today with a second presentment to the court. Previously he had decided not to indict, but to make informations against those mentioned in the presentment, this procedure contemplating appearance of the accused before an alderman to plead and to receive or waive a hearing, thus bringing the cases of those held before another grand jury for indictment. This was wisely decided upon to forestall attacks on indictments through technicalities.

Mr. Gardner's determination that his course be impregnable to technical attack is evidence that he wishes to impress upon the underworld the fact that the law does have teeth and that it is his intention to cause them to bite.

The first part of the attack on political pollution here with the presentment to court. The next step will be rt to prove the guilt or innocence of those accused, his Mr. Gardner will find that he has the full approval of the public.

Black Man's Magic

It Satisfies and Pleases Him.



Lenin's widow foretells the future of the human race, when the feet shall rule the head, when Communism reigns and selfish motives that have carried human beings toward progress thus far give way to altruism.

An interesting contrast to her teachings is this little picture of the witch doctor in Uganda, reading the omen by sorting out small bones and other objects.

The Prince of Wales recently saw this performance and was interested, as well he might be.

The witch doctor can't exactly tell his dark friends how to get rid of British control and keep for themselves the wealth that they produce.

That would take more than a witch doctor. It would take a completely new kind of brain in the Uganda people to do that.

But a witch doctor appeals to the imagination, makes it unnecessary for you to THINK, and says that all you need do is BELIEVE.

And that suits his black friends in Uganda admirably.

The wind is tempered to the shorn lamb; an intellectual effort is tempered to the degree of intellect.

Perhaps this witch doctor, telling what is going to happen by examining little bones, is about as accurate on the whole as the devoted and sincere widow of Lenin telling the peasants of Russia what is going to happen according to her ideas.

Tales That Are Told

Mistaken Identity

ONCE again Agatha, the new housemaid, had offended her mistress, and the latter decided to give her a little lecture.

"Agatha," she said, sternly, "you'll have to do much better or else I'll give you notice."

"But I'm doing my best," protested the other innocently.

"You're not. Do you know that yesterday afternoon you insulted a very dear friend of mine?"

"Oh, no, ma'am!"

"Yes, you did. When Mr. Tee called for me with the golf-clubs you slammed the door in his face."

"Golf-clubs!" gasped the girl. "Golf-clubs? I thought he was one o' them bothering umbrella menders."

Flattering

TWO men lying side by side in a Turkish bath happened to be neighbors, and one of them was an author. Each had a towel over his face and so didn't see the other.

Presently an attendant came hurrying in. He glanced at his watch and touched one of the men on the shoulder.

"Ready, Mr. Scribbler?" he asked.

The man bounded to his feet, aglow with pleasure at being mistaken for the author. As he was leaving he handed the attendant a generous tip.

"Tell me," he asked, "how you mistook me for Mr. Scribbler."

"Er—well, sir," replied the other, "your feet are same size as 'is."

Putting the Deal Over

LITTLE LESLIE had been sent to the grocer's to make some purchases for his mother.

The shop was crowded out with customers when the boy arrived, but he managed to wriggle his way up to the counter, and said in a loud voice:

"Please serve me quick it's for dad's dinner!"

The man behind the counter knew the lad by sight.

"What do you want, son?" he asked.

"Two bars of soap and a packet of washing powder!" answered little Leslie, who was anxious to be on his way.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE Scotchman had been trying to get a rest from all the Scotch jokes, so he spent most of all the fall and early winter at a winter hotel down in North Carolina.

He never tipped anybody, but they all knew he was rich, so they were looking for something when he went away. The day he was moving out, all the waiters and headwaiters and chambermaids and everything came out to see him off. The head porter helped the Scotchman into his big car, and stored away the baggage and when he saw the Sotchman wasn't remembering any of the help like they expected, the porter was pretty sore. Just as the car was about to move off, the porter stuck his head and right hand inside and he says, "You ain't goin' to forget me, Mistah Cameron?"

The Scotchman took the porter's hand and shook it hard. He says, "No, my boy, I will never forget you! Send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope to Bermuda, and I will mail you a picture of the hotel I am staying at out there."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

ARE men about to become clinging vines?

George Bernard Shaw says they are.

Some one asked him recently how the war had affected the position of women in England. He replied:

"IT HAS ENABLED THE MEN TO FIND OUT THAT THEY CAN LIVE ON THE LABOR OF THE WOMEN. That has proved the possibility of economic independence for women. BUT IT HAS PROVED ALSO THE POSSIBILITY OF ECONOMIC DEPENDENCE FOR MEN WHO ARE QUITE AS WILLING TO BE 'KEPT' AS EVER WOMEN WERE. We shall have to keep an eye on that aspect of the situation."

My friend Sally would agree with G. B. S.

Sally runs a little beauty shop out in a good apartment house district. Had a boy friend who worked in a garage. Last winter they were married. The boy friend continued working about six weeks in the garage. Then he got a heavy cold and laid off for a week. Went back—worked two weeks more—got a toothache—laid off three days. Then he decided that he'd rather work in a service station. Quit his job and began to look for another. He's still looking—so he says. Meanwhile Sally runs the beauty shop. She has never heard of Mr. George Bernard Shaw, but she would agree with him.

That is a true story. It is typical of thousands of modern working woman cases.

"Oh, people like that—" you say, snootily.

All right, here's another couple.

Marion's a college graduate. So's her husband. Been married 15 years. No children—they lost their only baby. Fred's one of those fellows who always grabs the center of the stage—but with all his whoopee they never managed to get ahead. Three years ago Marion got tired of sitting at home, eating her heart out for her dead baby, trying to make ends meet, listening to Fred's monologues. So she up and started a lunchroom. One of those different lunchrooms. Today she has three of them, and they're regular mints.

Fred? He's just as full of whoopee as ever. But he isn't working now. Hasn't time. He's too busy investing Marion's money for her.

Marion would also agree with Mr. Shaw.

The other day a shabby girl stood in my office with her month-old baby in her arms.

"Yes, I suppose they'll call me bad because I'm not married," she said. "But you know the kind of fellow he was—babies stand a better chance without some fathers, no matter what they say. And so do the mothers. I know it's going to be hard to raise him, but, at that, it'll be easier than it is for lots of girls I know. I have only a baby to support, but they have their husbands and their babies—"

INDIVIDUALITY

By Garrett P. Serviss

AFTER all, for each of us it is our own personality that counts. To say this is not to preach selfishness, for all altruism and all systems of co-operation and social unity are necessarily based on the individual.

But our present mechanical civilization and our "mass production" tend to debase the individual. Dr. Homer F. Swift has said something interesting on this subject, as follows: "The worship of organization in this country has many dangers. To do big things, to encourage economic mass production, we form big machines which work more or less automatically. A man, at certain places in the machine, performs certain motions which the machine cannot be made to perform. But in doing this he becomes the slave of the machine; his actions depend upon those of the machine and hence become merely mechanical. In organizing hospitals, group clinics and educational institutions there is a comparable danger. Each individual has a set task and a rate of motion imposed upon him by demands of the rest of the organization. This consumes so much of his energy that little is left to apply to independent thought . . . Because applied science has made possible these wonderful and fearful machines, with their consequent demands, many persons are asking today whether science has not failed in its object to better man's condition. They recognize that materially he may be more comfortable and physically more healthful, but ask whether mentally he is superior to his predecessors and whether he has retained his freedom."

Dr. Swift is speaking as a scientist, a member of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, and in his exhibition of medicine as being an art as well as a science he, as many other representatives of his profession have recently done, is pleading for the development of individual thinking in the practice of the physician. The business of the scientist is analysis; that of the artist is synthesis.

"Not all of the art of medicine is at the bedside, nor all the science of medicine in the laboratory."

In other words, the instinct of the artist, which is an individual gift, must co-operate with that of the scientist in order that medicine, or any other form of knowledge, shall advance in acquirement and in technique. The great discoverers in science have been artists in their methods. Skill in experimentation (the cornerstone of scientific method) is an expression of artistic power. Skill can only be developed by individual practice.

On the educational side the fight for individuality calls for the avoidance of these methods in dealing with the evolution of the mental gifts of the young. This is very far from saying that pupils in the schools should be left at liberty to choose their own studies. Quite the contrary. But on the other hand, they should not all be measured by the same standard, regardless of their individual capacities, nor all be urged into technical studies, for which but a few are fitted by nature. The immense variety of human gifts and abilities is no less evident than the essential unity of the whole race. This would be a desperately tedious place if it were not so. Even among angels—beings which all religious and philosophies picture as enjoying the ideal state of bliss—ranks and hierarchies and differences of powers and destinations universally prevail. Their personalities are always carefully distinguished. Should not, then, this precious quality of individuality, ascribed by common consent to the highest idealizations of existence, be cherished and preserved on this earth, to give it a little of the charm of diversity and dissimilarity?

Bible Passages

"God Be Merciful"

(Psalm 67)

GOD be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; Selah.

That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations.

Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee.

O let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth. Selah.

Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee.

Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us.

God bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear him.

At Parting

BECAUSE my eyes are dry, sweetheart,
Some think I do not care;
But sometimes eyes must lie, sweetheart,
And lips a mask must wear.

And you can read so well, my dear,
The things I wish to say;
Dry eyes a grief can tell, my dear,
Nor is all laughter gay.

Though you may travel far, sweetheart,
While long years slowly move,
Know still that where you are, sweetheart,
Is not beyond my love!

And though I'd keep you here, my dear,
Till time itself were done,
There is no far or near, my dear,
When souls, like ours, are one!

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Thoughts while strolling: Fannie Hurst's coiffure is showing her ears this season. Wonder how a fellow comes to take up playing a French horn? That building where the elevator operators say "Ascending" and "Descending." Whoops, my dear!

Alexander Woolcott, a Phalanx, N. J., boy, who made good in the city. Al Jolson greeting the former Mrs. Jolson pleasantly—divorced but friendly. H. N. Swanson, editor of College Humor and just out of college. Those pint sized black cabs with venerable white haired coachmen—very Park Avenue.

A hotel famous for its banana ice cream. Ben Ames Williams in town from Boston. Enthusiasm for talkies not cooling. South gentleman "types" with wide hats, string ties and goatees who sell corn salve on street corners. Toy penguins from Paris—called "Alfred."

Those modernistic beds are a death blow to the old maid looking under the bed for a man jokes. Hot house grapes—$3 a bunch. Who remembers when New York was noted for its cleanliness? "The Dog and Cat Beauty Hospital" on West Forty-ninth street. Violet Heming is easy on the optics.—Pee-Wee Byers.

A roaming tin type photographer. I suppose there are really people who care for mushrooms. Wish red haired ladies would quit wearing so much green. Joe Humphries, the prize fight announcer. Lingering color in the foliage. Auto horns you expect to be followed by the cry: "Any fish today, lady?"

There used to be girls who would never think of visiting bachelor apartments alone. A chili parlor run by a full blooded Indian. George Arliss without a monocle. The new Fifth Avenue building devoted to "facial nesthetics." People who go to expensive luncheons just to be seen.

Women who bundle up and sit on park benches to read novels. Flora Zabelle grows prettier with the years. Those flossy new drug stores with soft green lights. Earl Benham, the movie actor, who became a fashionable tailor. Cellar bookshops—open until midnight. Al Smith, a city boy, who did not make good in the country.

The luncheon hour in smart cafes in Manhattan has become a daily fashion show—a splurge of debutantes in orchids. And inconspicuous nobodies pay the extra—vagrant tariff to look on. There are women, the sillies, who do without servants and other comforts to be a part of the mid-day show.

I have often wanted to be sitting in at one of those glorified luncheons dabbling with a set of gray caviare with someone else paying the check, of course, and have certain people from Gallipolis, O., pass the table. Perhaps that would end the whispering campaign about my cosmopolitanism. There are people there who intimate I wear white spats but I still saucer my coffee. It has always been my luck when home folks see me eating in public to be up on a stool gnawing at a pig's knuckle.

CHAPLETS OF FAME

By Herbert Kaufman

LAUREL wreaths will drop their leaves. The chaplets of Fame are seldom shrivel-proof. One generation sets up idols and the next stores 'em in the garret.

We retain few heirlooms—mental furniture included.

Taste changes with background. So early native poets are fast fading from memory and gathering cobwebs on the back shelves of second-hand shops.

Their tempo is out of step with present cadences.

Even Bryant, Whittier and Longfellow would hardly have survived the recollection of three generations, except through a conspiracy of education board and textbook manufacturers.

School compulsion alone renders their works so familiar to most of us.

And even they are passing from last editions to anthologies, while Villon's sonnets and Dante's strophes go marching down the ages.

Enduring poetry is not born of placid genius. It derives from exaltation, takes form and color in heroic crucible, and breeds with the creative flame of passion.

The "sweet singers" of our yesterday seldom were thus inclined. Their fancy roamed local landscapes, wooed legend, mated with virtue and philosophy and held no commerce with the Scarlet Woman or the scarlet phrase.

Yon pale, anemic children of Puritanical conscience were prim and spinster step-kin of the Muses, strictly obedient to all the dictates in the horn books of composition—drilled companies of correctly scanned meters, moving in orderly lines across prudely set stages of action.

They dance in classic restraint to the faint tinkle of New England harpsichords, innocently unaware of Phrygian frenzies, Elusinian mysteries and the frenetic cymbals that clashed from Homer's imagination and crushed through Heine's and Schiller's Olympian moods.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

A FOREIGN princess was visting in Hollywood. She was being shown a "set" where movies were being made. The sets are built a few feet above the ground level, and the princess was walking through the movie rooms and admiring the scenery. Suddenly she leaned against a door, which opened and let her out, head first. Her feet stuck straight up in the air and the sight surpassed any that was ever paid for a comedy company.

Unfortunately the camera was still. Such well mannered folks we Americans!

Ted Cook, who runs another column, dunks his raisin bread! Would you have thought it? Such a nice man, so young and smart and handsome.

His wife, who is even nicer than he is, couldn't resist telling me when she read in this column that it is now becoming quite fashionable to dunk doughnuts.

In Chicago at a well-known restaurant, there is a waiter who clowns for the old customers. He waited for days for someone to come in and ask for doughnuts and coffee, and then he said: "Do you dunk?" The man answered yes, whereupon the waiter jerked out a rubber glove and smilingly presented it.

"Do you know," said her uncle to a girl child who was pushing in mashed potatoes, "if you had a bigger mouth you could eat even MORE potatoes at one time."

The girl child finished her mouthful and remarked: "Uncle Bob, you're a funny jumper."

Young children used to hang on to their mothers' skirts. Now the children are not tall enough to do it.

A waiter was asked by a lady for a couple of boiled eggs. She remarked to her husband when she ordered them, "It's about the only thing one can get that hasn't had a waiter's thumb in it."

The waiter heard the remark, and when the eggs arrived they were in the shell in a perfect nest made of shredded lettuce. They looked as if the mother hen had just stepped out.

Cecil Rhodes describes the natives of Kenya as "happy, irresponsible and laughter loving," and calls them "these poor children." He says that like children, they appreciate justice, and that they think leniency and generosity, virtues of the white man, are mere weaknesses. They idolize you if you punish them for their misdeeds and are not too generous. But they hate you for signs of weakness.

How strangely like the way women feel about men!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHEN you are figuring on your Christmas gifts for mother and dad, don't do it at the expense of omitting to go home.

If you desire you could make the trip in the time allotted for the holiday.

But you have not seriously considered going home because there are so many things going on in the city.

You feel that gifts should satisfy your parents.

And they do appreciate them greatly, but a visit to them means more.

Perhaps you know mother wants to see you, but dad is not so anxious; you are sure, for he seldom says much about it.

But you are wrong there—both look forward eagerly to Christmas because of the possibility that you may come home.

When sons and daughters are absent, Christmas is not so interesting to parents—something is lacking—lonely hearts ache.

Get home Christmas if you possibly can.

Nothing you could give would bring so much joy to your parents as to have you with them that day.

Get into the real Christmas spirit this year; try to make others happy.

If you are right this will add to your own happiness.
